Survivors Suffering From Severe Hardships, Declare Radio Dispatches

BULLETIN
LAKEHURST, N. J., Nov. 13.—(UP)—The naval dirigible Los Angeles is expected to leave the naval air station late today to aid in the search for the lifeboats of the liner Vestris.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Wireless advices received here up to noon today stated that 203 persons had been rescued from the life boats of the Lamport and Holt liner Vestris, which foundered yesterday 275 miles off the Virginia shoals.

This left 136 persons not accounted for as the ship carried 129 men, women and children passengers and a crew of 210.

This information was received by Sanderson and Son, the New York agents of the Lamport and Holt line.

"So far as we know from the information that we have received up to date there were no casualties attending the loss of the Vestris," said David Cook, vice president of Sanderson and Son. "We cannot be absolutely sure on this point, however, until we get more complete reports and until we know how many life boats actually left the Vestris."

"The Vestris carried 13 life boats and one motor launch for just such emergencies as this. She did not carry any life rafts. Wireless dispatches account for 10 life boats, but we do not know if the 14 boats and launch were used by Capt. Carey."

There was an ominous ring to the wireless dispatch picked up by the Radio Corporation of America that the U. S. Battleship Wyoming had rescued five persons from the

11 Men and Women Ask Release From San Quentin Cells

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Eleven men and women today knocked down within the gates of San Quentin claiming penance done for taking human life and placed their claims for parole in the hands of the state prison board.

Headed by Dorothy Ellingson, San Francisco "jazz baby" matricide, the group is playing a 50 to 1 shot, according to records showing the approximate rate at which paroles are given convicted murderers in California.

The Ellingson girl's appeal already has received one serious setback through refusal of Judge Harold Louderback of San Francisco, who presided at her trial in 1925, to lend his voice to any effort for her release now at the expiration of three years of a one to 10 years sentence imposed upon her.

HOOVER HOLDS MEETING WITH ADVISOR TODAY

Gives Attention to Problems of Administration Before Trip

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 13.—President-elect Hoover put aside elaborate preparations for his Latin-American friend-ship tour today for the first political conference since his overwhelming election last Tuesday.

With the arrival in San Francisco of Assistant Attorney General William J. Donovan from Washington, Hoover gave his attention to the budding problems of his own administration, in which Donovan is expected to be one of his closest advisers.

An ardent Hoover supporter from the early days of the pre-convention campaign, and one of the chiefs in the Hoover strategy counsel during the fight after Kansas City, Donovan has been mentioned frequently as a likely successor to Attorney General John G. Sargent.

Upon his shoulders, it is indicated, will fall the mantle of leadership among the Hoover forces during the absence of the president-elect in Latin-America.

Hoover's good-will mission to the south will sail from San Pedro, the port of Los Angeles, next Monday about noon. Accompanied by a party of 40, the mission constitutes the greatest gesture of amity and friendship toward the republics to the south in United States history.

Entirely without diplomatic status and traveling as a neighbor and observer, Hoover plans to extend his trip to the return voyage up the Atlantic to at least three or four Central-American republics. Nicaragua may be visited.

Mexico City also is to be on the homeward itinerary from Buenos Aires. There, Hoover will be afforded an opportunity to discuss the vexatious problems of Mexican relations with Ambassador Morrow. There, too, he will have an opportunity to discuss with Morrow the question of his probable successor in Mexico City in the event of his own appointment to the cabinet as secretary of state, a post with which his name has been frequently connected in the post-election cabinet buzz in the Hoover home.

The thorough going fashion in which Hoover intends to survey the entire range of Latin-American problems, diplomatic, economic and political, is indicated, according to his intimates here, by this request that he be accompanied by Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher, American representative at Rome, as assigned as his ranking aide on the trip. This request was granted with alacrity by President Coolidge, who has expressed his admiration for Fletcher in the past as one of the best posted men in the diplomatic service on Latin-American matters.

GOV. SMITH GUARDS HIS RADIO MESSAGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith continued today to guard the contents of the "message to the American people" which he will broadcast over a nation-wide hookup at 8 o'clock tonight.

Rumor has it that Governor Smith will attempt to soften the hard feeling which remains as the aftermath of the campaign, that he will wish President-Elect Hoover success during his administration and that he will assure the Democratic party of the nation that the party still have a bright future despite its defeat in the recent elections.

Escapes Death In 230-Foot Fall Down Pipe

COOLIDGE, Ariz., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Walter Smith, 21-year-old Indian, was suffering from a broken wrist and minor bruises today after falling 230 feet down a penstock, a circular tube several feet wide, at Coolidge dam. Smith's plunge was broken by bends in the pipe.

ERUPTION OF VOLCANO NOT VIOLENT TODAY

Decreasing Activity Seen By Observer and People Return to Homes

CATANIA, Sicily, Nov. 13.—(UP)—A thick cloud of dense, black smoke pouring from Mount Etna's craters today had its silver lining as a possible harbinger of decreasing activity in the volcano's destructive eruption.

Flying in a military plane along the course of the lava flows on Etna's slope, Professor Gaetano Ponte, of the Etna observatory, said that the emission of heavy black smoke from the various craters was increasing in volume. This, he said, usually indicated general abatement in activity.

The wide streams of lava, cooling more rapidly in their descent, were much slower.

Rich farm lands, to the extent of more than 3000 acres had been laid waste. More than 700 homes, including two whole towns, had been buried under the lava.

Fortunately, as far as could be learned, only two lives had been lost.

Damage has been estimated as high as $50,000,000.

Hopefully, after Professor Ponte's report, thousands of peasants made ready to return to their valley homes—or to the spots, marked by mere rises where the lava had flowed over their houses.

PARENTS GET BLAME FOR U. S. CRIME GAIN

HANFORD, Calif., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Failure of parents to enforce obedience by their children is the primary cause of the criminal conditions that exist throughout this country, according to Ernest E. Williams, assistant U. S. district attorney of San Francisco, who delivered the principal address at the Armistice day celebration here.

This condition, which has resulted in America becoming the most lawless of civilized nations, can be corrected only through the home, he said.

"Every businessman must take an inventory to know where he stands, and we, as a nation, must stop to determine where we are drifting," Williams said.

New York Bankers Acquiring Doheny California Oil Land

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(UP)—The turbulent career of E. L. Doheny in the oil industry soon is to end.

The New York banking houses of Blyth, Witter and company and J. & W. Seligman and company virtually have completed arrangements for the purchase of nearly all the oil producing properties in California owned by the Petroleum Securities company, which is controlled by Doheny and his family. Closing of the transaction will mark the definite retirement of Doheny from the oil industry, in which he has been an outstanding figure for a generation.

More than 40,000 acres, located in the principal producing fields of California and valued at more than $43,000,000 are involved.

ASA KEYES IS NOT GUILTY HE PLEADS TODAY

Accusation of Misconduct In Office Dismissed—Trial December 5

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—(INS)—District Attorney Asa Keyes, for 25 years a public prosecutor, must stand trial on charges of soliciting and taking bribes, despite the fact that a grand jury accusation of "wilful and corrupt" misconduct in office was dismissed.

Keyes automatically goes out of office on Dec. 1, his term expiring on that date. Four days later he will be brought to trial in superior court on a grand jury indictment charging bribery.

The grand jury accusation against District Attorney Asa Keyes, charging the veteran Los Angeles prosecutor with "wilful and corrupt" misconduct in office, was dismissed today by Superior Judge Douglas L. Edmonds.

The dismissal of the civil action to remove Keyes from office was made on motion of District Attorney-Elect Burton Fitts, named to prosecute Keyes on criminal charges of taking bribes to "fix" court cases.

The move was made, Fitts previously explained, to avoid the necessity of the state presenting all of its evidence against Keyes before he is brought to trial on a grand jury indictment charging bribery.

The civil action was dropped as Keyes and seven co-defendants appeared before Judge Edmonds to plead to the bribery charges.

Keyes entered a plea of not guilty to the indictment and his trial was set for December 5, two days after his term of office expires.

ANXIETY FELT FOR ST. JOHNS VESSELS

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Grave anxiety was felt today for fishing fleets off Newfoundland as a northeasterly gale swept in.

Twenty coastwise fishing schooners left St. Johns two days ago on a northward trip, and so far only three were reported to have reached harbor.

The storm has interrupted telegraphic communication.

GOV. SMITH PLANS MISSISSIPPI VISIT

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 13.—(INS)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, accompanied by John J. Raskob, will leave New York for Mississippi tomorrow. It was revealed today by Campbell Carrington, of New York City, a personal friend of Smith, said he held a telephone conversation with the governor last night.

Carrington said that Governor Smith accepted his invitation to visit Hot Springs later, but that no definite arrangements were made.

Arkansas School Not To Obey New Law On Evolution

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 13.—(UP)—No effort will be made by the medical school of the University of Arkansas here to comply with the recent enacted law prohibiting teaching of evolution in the public schools.

Dr. Frank Vinsonhaler, dean of the school, said in a statement today.

Dean Vinsonhaler said to leave out the teaching of evolution in the school would wreck it and therefore the faculty will continue regardless of the law.

"I do not anticipate any trouble," Dean Vinsonhaler said. "I feel that no attempt will be made to enforce the law."

UNHERALDED and unexpected, a rainstorm swept into Orange county at 9:30 last night and gave this section a surprise drenching. The storm was pretty general throughout Southern California. In Santa Ana the precipitation up to 7 a. m. today, according to S. Hill and Son, was .72 of an inch.

Accompanied by a freak wind the storm broke with fury, but the wind subsided almost as quickly as it came and the gentle patter of rain on roofs delighted scores of residents of the county. There were hard rains at periods during the night, the precipitation recorded being evidence of this fact.

Reports from various districts in the county reveal that all communities did not share alike in the amount of moisture precipitated.

No serious damage was done by the wind, as far as could be ascertained. Patrons of the telephone and electric services were inconvenienced in some sections of the county. Light service was interrupted in the Garden Grove and Talbert districts, lights being off from 10 o'clock last night until 7 o'clock this morning, according to reports from the Talbert section.

Shorts put a number of telephones out of commission, but the trouble was no more serious than that which usually follows rain after a long dry spell.

As compared with this date last year, the record for this season is far short of that for last year. The Santa Ana record for this date last year was 4.79 inches, as compared with 1.19 inches for this season.

$50,000,000 Worth Of Chinese Jewels Offered For Sale

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Chinese royal jewels, stolen from monarchical tombs, and valued at $50,000,000 were offered for sale in San Francisco, according to Raiston T. Wilbur, jeweler.

The jewelry was said to have been taken from the tombs of the Emperor Chien Lung and Empress Dowager Tzu Hsi in the Tumbling burying grounds near Peking by Chinese bandit soldiery.

Wilbur said he declined to consider handling the jewels, since the present Chinese government has put a price on the heads of those responsible for desecration of the tombs.

CIGARETTE DIET

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Some smokers can't get a cough out of a carload of cigarettes, but Mrs. Clara S. Edwards is trying to get a divorce out of a package.

According to her complaint on file here against David C. Edwards, her husband became so enraged when he saw her smoking a cigarette that he threw her to the floor, sat on her chest and forced her to eat a package of cigarettes one by one.

CONTRACT LET FOR OVERHEAD CROSSING AT IRVINE; BRIDGE ACROSS WASH ALSO PLANNED

THE CONTRACT for an overhead crossing of the Santa Fe tracks on the state highway at Irvine has been awarded to John Simpson and company, and work on the project will start in the immediate future, it was announced here today by J. P. Baumgartner, member of the state highway commission.

All Kinds Of Turkeys—If You Have Cash

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Turkeys, enough and to spare for the Thanksgiving and Christmas markets, are in sight this year, according to state and national surveys announced today by the California Co-operative Crop Reporting service.

California, unofficially expected to market nearly 100,000 birds, at least will have a "crop" one-fourth larger than in 1927, and the condition of the birds is from fair to excellent.

STANDARD OIL CHIEF GOES ON PERJURY TRIAL

Defense Attorney Declares His Client Will Clear Name Before Jury

By HERBERT LITTLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—A prompt verdict of not guilty was predicted by defense attorney Frank J. Hogan in his opening statement at the trial of Robert W. Stewart, Indiana Standard Oil chairman of an indictment charging perjury here today.

Hogan concluded his statement by saying Stewart was innocent of falsifying testimony before the senate Teapot Dome committee early this year. The introduction of testimony given immediately by the government through presentation of numerous senate oil investigation documents.

Meantime U. S. Attorney Rover announced he was proceeding in his search for a young man whom Robert Caldwell, prospective juror, said asked him if he would "hold out."

Hogan abandoned his attempt to tell of the indictment of Stewart and his subsequent acquittal on a charge of contempt of the senate in connection with his refusal to testify. When U. S. Attorney Rover objected.

The defense indicated it would seek to show the perjury indictment was an afterthought, the charge being pressed after the contempt charge was brought.

The first evidence offered by the government was the original senate Teapot Dome resolution of 1922 which Rover read to the jury.

MRS. CLYDE COOK CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Mildred Norris Cook, 40, wife of Clyde Cook, athletic instructor in the Santa Ana high school, died at the Battle Creek hospital, Los Angeles, at 10 o'clock last night, according to word received here today.

She had been ill for some time and had been in the hospital for the past three weeks, it was said. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the funeral chapel of Turner-Stevens and Berry, at 1000 Fremont avenue, South Pasadena, and burial will be made there.

DIPLOMATIC MAIL ON STEAMER VESTRIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Ten pouches of diplomatic mail, destined to American diplomatic offices in South American countries by the state department, were aboard the steamer Vestris and presumably have been lost, it was announced here today.

State department officials said the papers could be duplicated.

PERMIT IS GRANTED BY COMMISSION

One Hundred Acres Will Be Required to Build Big Plant For Transmitter

UNIVERSITY OF AIR

Non-Sectarian Religion, Music, Art, Lectures and Drama Will Be Featured

ORANGE COUNTY is to be the site of a 50,000 watt radio station. This became a fact yesterday when the federal radio commission awarded construction permit to the Pacific Western Broadcasting Federation.

Subsidiary studios will be located in various centers of culture and population in northern California, Reno, Tucson and Phoenix. There is also a possibility that a station also will be located in Santa Ana.

Studies and executive offices of the federation, familiarly known as the "University of the Air," will be located in Los Angeles.

Word that the radio commission had acted favorably on the request of the federation was received in Santa Ana late yesterday afternoon from Gross W. Alexander of Los Angeles, who has been in Washington the past week conferring with members of the commission.

One hundred acres of land will be required by the federation for its station in Orange county, according to plans already revealed. It was pointed out that the establishment of the station in Orange county will bring many people here as permanent residents. It also will bring hundreds of visitors, talent and radio experts.

Mr. Alexander, executive manager for the federation, in a personal telegram to The Register, said:

"Four of the commissioners voted favorably, only Judge Robinson being against the construction permit, and that, he said he wanted it understood, was because he had committed himself against high power allotted to any station. Otherwise he enthusiastically approved, it was said. The Pacific Western Broadcasting federation marks a departure from the usual type of broadcasting institution. It has brought about the integration of various organizations of education, idealism and culture. Colleges and universities, federation of women's clubs, parent-teacher congresses, state boards of education, community chests, library associations and civic groups are involved. The federation will operate America's first true radio theater of culture, and the first cosmopolitan seminary and church

JEWELER INDICTED ON ROBBERY CHARGE

DENVER, Nov. 13.—(UP)—More indictments were in prospect today to supplement one returned yesterday by the Denver county grand jury against Bernie Cohen, manager of a local jewelry store, charged with perjury as a result of police investigation of a $100,000 robbery of a jewelry salesman in Salt Lake City last year.

The indictment against Cohen followed testimony given in a grand jury by W. C. H. Brown, salesman, the victim of the robbery. Cohen is alleged to have given false testimony in connection with a previous grand jury hearing which followed the arrest of Harry "Toots" Grimes and Harry Nelde, of Denver. Grimes and Nelde are charged with receiving stolen goods.

Reinstatement Of Police Captain In Collins Case Asked

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—(UP)—The reinstatement application of Capt. J. J. Jones, now suspended from the police force for his action in ordering Mrs. Christine Collins to the psychopathic ward, will be heard by the police commission tomorrow.

Counsel for Mrs. Collins has advised her not to testify at the hearing because Mayor Cryer refused to appoint another body to hear Captain Jones' case. The commission exonerated Captain Jones at a previous hearing.

Mrs. Collins was placed under sanity observation when she declined to accept as her son a youth so identified by police. Subsequently the youth was found to be Arthur Hutchins, of Iowa.

Mrs. McPherson To Sail On Thursday; Denies L.A. Charge

BRISTOL, Eng., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Mrs. Almee Semple McPherson, whose "kidnaping" adventure was recalled during a grand jury investigation in Los Angeles a few days ago, will sail Thursday from Southampton for home.

The California evangelist, concluding a lecture tour of Great Britain, denied that $500,000 had been spent to launch the investigation of her kidnaping and the conspiracy charges against her. The charge was made during an investigation of the regime of Asa Keyes, Los Angeles district attorney.

"There is not a word of truth in the suggestion," Mrs. McPherson said. "It is some political dodge. Some party wants to see Keyes ousted, hence it makes a football out of anyone who happens to be in the middle of the ring."

Open Bids Soon On Dana Point Road Projects

On December 4 the Orange county board of supervisors will open bids on highway projects at Dana Point, estimated to cost $240,000. Today the body authorized the work when no protests were entered. Plans and specifications have been prepared by Nat Neff, highway superintendent.

The work includes one and one-half miles of paving on the state highway at Dana Point, the work to be 56 feet wide between curbs. The remainder of the paving is to be on streets in the subdivision at Dana Point.

Campaign Fund Investigators To Meet Late This Week

TO PROBE INTO EXPENSES FOR LAST CAMPAIGN

BY KENNETH G. CRAWFORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—House and senate campaign fund investigating committees will convene here this week to finish their work of ascertaining the cost of electing the new president and vice president.

Reports already filed with two committees and with the secretary of the house indicate the campaign was the most expensive in history, costing approximately $12,000,000.

Republican and Democratic national committees together spent $9,000,000 up to Nov. 1, according to official reports, and expenses for the last week of the campaign, still unreported, are expected to bring the total $3,000,000 higher, including expenses of organizations not directly allied with the parties.

Of the $9,000,000 reported, Republicans spent $5,000,000 and Democrats $4,000,000.

No financial scandals have been revealed in the campaign, however, and if there is any public resentment over the size of the war chests, it has not been manifested publicly here.

Reflecting the apparent lack of public interest in campaign finances, the two investigating committees are expected to complete their tasks hurriedly and have their reports ready when congress convenes next month.

Chairman Steiwer of the senate committee plans to call a meeting tomorrow or Thursday, when all members except Senator Bratton, Dem., N. M., are expected to be here. This session is to decide the procedure in completing the investigation.

He said the Republican and Democratic national committee treasurers' report probably would be accepted, but hearings might be held to gather additional information.

SOVIET ASKS AID FROM CAPITALISTS

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 13.—its new policy with regard to concessions, the soviet government has sent to all soviet missions stationed abroad a report of the decision to invite foreign capitalists to come to the help of industry, agriculture and transport in the U. S. S. R.

The report includes an extensive list of the branches in which concessions are most desirable, and instructions to representatives to prepare to present the new soviet offers to capitalists in the most attractive form. Comprehensive prospectuses are being prepared in English, French and German for dispatch to London, New York, Paris and elsewhere, in order to interest financial circles in this "opportunity for investment on an unprecedented scale."

DECIDES TO QUIT AFTER 3 WEDDINGS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Some husbands mean a lot to their wives but to Mrs. Margaret Emerson Vanderbilt Baker a lot of husbands mean just one thing and that is "enough."

Mrs. Baker stopped in San Francisco from Reno long enough to deny rumors that she was engaged to Charles Minot Amory, wealthy Bostonian. She had been to the Nevada capital and received a divorce from Raymond T. Baker, former director of the United States Mint at Philadelphia.

"I am not thinking of marrying," she said, "and besides three marriages are enough. There will be no fourth."

California Girl Kills Nine Bears

SAN RAPHAEL, Nov. 13.—(UP)—The laurels of Diana, famous goddess of the hunt are endangered after centuries of fame, according to word reaching here from Oslo, Norway, regarding Miss Louise Boyd, California woman who is cruising the Arctic in her ship, the Hobby.

The information was that Miss Boyd already has killed nine polar bears and captured one cub.

Change Managers In Sears-Roebuck Santa Ana Store

A change in the management of the Sears-Roebuck company store in Santa Ana was announced today. E. B. Cicero, formerly of Chicago, took charge of the establishment today, while B. L. Hamburger, who has been manager of the store here, has been transferred to the company's San Bernardino store.

Cicero has been connected with the main Sears-Roebuck company house in Chicago and came to Santa Ana directly from there to assume management of the store here.

Hamburger is to be manager of the San Bernardino store. He will leave tonight to take up his duties there.

ATTENDANCE AT CHURCHES LOW IN JUGOSLAVIA

BELGRADE, Nov. 13.—Religion has reached the lowest ebb in the history of the Serbian people. There remain but four churches in Belgrade for the spiritual comfort of 500,000 Serbs.

Church services on Sunday are attended only by four persons. High mass is often said on Sunday to empty auditoriums. The indifference of the average Serb to church services exists but cannot be defined.

Bishop Lukovitch, dean of the Belgrade Cathedral, discussed the situation frankly with the Associated Press correspondent.

"The state is supporting our church," he said, "There is no such thing as public support. Whereas there are often at least five churches in towns of 20,000, here in Belgrade, with a population of 500,000, four churches are too many."

"The whole population has deserted the churches for the beaches, which breed a spirit of indecency."

QUEST FOR FATHER ENDS IN CEMETERY

ROSEBURG, Ore., Nov. 13.—(UP)—A young man's quest for his missing father was ended in a Roseburg cemetery when Robert Taylor, 22, found a weather-beaten slab of wood marking the grave of his lost parent whom he sought for eight years.

It was then the youth learned through files of a local newspaper that his father was killed here April 20, 1912, while employed as a switchman in the Southern Pacific railroad yards.

His story relates how his mother was divorced when Robert was a child of four years. Eight years ago she remarried and the youth started his search for his father.

La Barba Tour To Australia Planned

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—Fidel La Barba, contender for the bantamweight championship, and former holder of the world's flyweight crown which he relinquished a year ago to enter Stanford university, will leave November 30 for Australia on a boxing tour. It was announced today. The boxer will be accompanied by his wife and his manager.

Emanuel Favorite Over Mike Arnold

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—Armand Emanuel, San Francisco's glove-wielding lawyer, is the favorite in his battle here tonight with Mike Arnold, youthful Denver giant. If Emanuel defeats Arnold, he will be awarded a match with Paulino Uzcudun, the Pyreneese woodchopper, according to Jack Doyle, who is staging the fight.

LUTHERANS CONVENTION

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 13.—The next biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America, will be held in Philadelphia in 1930, if the present convention adopts a recommendation by its Executive Board presented to the convention today.

Acting upon an invitation from the Synod of the Northwest to hold a convention in Milwaukee, the Executive Board recommended that the convention of 1932 be held in the territory of that synod but did not name the city.

ORANGE COUNTY WILL GET HUGE RADIO STATION

of the air. Nine religious denominations have taken official action to have representation in the federation and it is anticipated that still others will join the organization.

Corporation Organized
"The corporation was organized under the laws of California August 17, but the movement was under way as early as November, 1925. Applications have been pending with the commission for many months. The board of directors is composed of four college or university presidents, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, of Stanford, Palo Alto, brother of the secretary of the navy; Dr. Walter P. Dexter, of Whittier college, who recently conferred a degree on the wife of the president-elect; Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, of Mills college, said to be outstanding woman educator of the west and for four years president of the American Association of University Women, and Dr. James A. Blaisdell, of Claremont colleges.

"Among the business men on the board are Will C. Wood, of San Francisco, state superintendent of banks and formerly superintendent of public instruction in California; J. S. Edwards, wealthy orange grower of Redlands and founder of Pomona college; J. Frank Burke, owner of the Santa Ana Register, and Fillmore Condit, a retired capitalist of Long Beach, former mayor of that city and a director of the Union Oil company. Two very prominent club women are directors, Miss Mary Workman being widely known and respected as a leader in club and civic movements. Mrs. Carrie Parsons Ryant is vice president of the Los Angeles board of education and influential in the sphere of women's activities. The Rt. Rev. W. Bertrand Stevens, bishop of Los Angeles, and a Methodist district superintendent, Dr. Walter C. Buckner, and a Presbyterian minister, Dr. Josiah Sibley of the Westminster church in Pasadena.

Colleges Represented
"The University of Southern California, Occidental college, Scripps college and Pomona college are also represented on the board of directors by one or more of their trustees. The president of the University of California, Dr. W. W. Campbell, of Berkeley, and the director of the University of California at Los Angeles, Dr. E. C. Moore, together with Dr. Leon Richardson, head of the extension division, and several of the regents of the university have taken a great interest in this university of radio, and have aided in its promotion, realizing that the psychological and social potentialities of radio were sufficiently great to warrant the anticipation that its application during the next decade would predetermine to a large extent the history of nations for the remainder of the century, and believing that the Pacific coast offered a strategic position for a great broadcasting institution, various educators and leaders have inaugurated the federation as an aid to culture, idealism, understanding and progress. In so doing, they believe that the west has again set the pace for the rest of the nation in offering a unique solution to a perplexing problem.

"In view of the limited number of wave lengths, and in view of the large costs of broadcasting, and in view of the limited talent available to present material of a cultural nature in a popular form certain to appeal to the fans, the federation was launched as a practical aid in integrating the groups and organizations interested in broadcasting into one comprehensive institution, the facilities of which, from practically any section of the three Pacific-Southwest states will be available to them and shared by them.

Non-Sectarian
"Music, art, drama, non-sectarian religion, radio movies, high class entertainment will be featured in addition to adult education, public school instruction, special intelligence, public debate and discussion of the problems of the day. Beam transmission on a low wave is contemplated for simultaneous use, so as to facilitate intercontinental fellowship and international good will. Agriculture, sociology, household problems, citizenship, Americanization, orientation and many other courses will be put on the air by the co-operating colleges and universities and other organizations.

"It is evident that the federal radio commission realizes that this station with its networks of land wires connecting with remote control panels in the centers of culture and entertainment will make a significant contribution to the 'public convenience, interest and necessity.' The wave length granted, 1490 kilocycles, of 201.6 meters, is now being used by WBAW and WLAQ both of Nashville, Tennessee. It is not considered a good wave, but was the only position that could be given.

"Officials of the federation believe that in time they will be granted a better assignment, particularly if congress should order the commission to give right of way to stations deserving better channels for different and better types of public service, than now prevailing. Many stations are broadcasting identical programs on different channels at the same time through chain systems. Many others are using identical types of programs. It was apparent from the beginning that the commission would desire to provide a variety of programs, issuing from the best type of the nation's institutions and leaders, and catering to a section of the public now discriminated against by second and third rate broadcasters.

100 Acres Needed
"It is announced that the transmitters will probably be erected on a park not less than 100 acres in size, the federation is taking under advisement the construction of buildings with club rooms on its property and with other facilities so as to provide a rendezvous for gatherings. It is estimated that between one and two million tourists and visitors will visit the transmitter and picnic on its grounds during the course of a year.

"Equipment to be installed is type 107-A Western Electric, said to be as good as is available in this country. Dr. Robert A. Millikan, internationally-known physicist, has indicated that the California Institute of Technology, of which he is head, will provide every engineering and technical service desirable. It is this institute which recently announced the plan to construct a 200 inch telescope on Mt. Wilson for study of astronomy. He was given authority for quotation of his estimate of the contemplated work of the federation as follows:

"If it, the Pacific-Western Broadcasting federation, can even partially attain its goal, it will be one of the most important social agencies which the country possesses. It numbers among its incorporations some of the finest men of the west."

"Finances will be provided primarily from three sources: First, from co-operating institutions, second from income from an endowment fund, third from annuities of interested parties. It is estimated that more than two million dollars will be invested in the enterprise.

"Counsel for the federation are Tanner, Odell & Taft, of Los Angeles, and McAdoo, Neblett, O'Connor and Clagett of Washington and Los Angeles.

"The transmitter should be ready for operation during the next six or eight months. Application for construction permit was filed with the commission in the early spring of 1928, although communications had been taking place between the federal authority and representatives of the movement since June, 1926."

Movement Praised
Herbert Hoover, newly-elected president of the United States, and many other noted characters in public life have indorsed the aims of the Pacific Broadcasting federation and voiced their admiration for the movement to advance the causes of religion and education by means of the radio.

Herbert Hoover's communication to the federation, in part, said: "I have the utmost sympathy with the public service features of what you are endeavoring to bring about."

Excerpts from communications of indorsement from other leaders follow:

Dr. John J. Tigert, U. S. commissioner of education, Washington: "I feel confident that we are just at the threshold of a great movement which will utilize radio and other recent developments of science, both in reaching the public and in the schools. The possibilities appear to be almost limitless and it is unthinkable to me that we will remain much longer without proper technique and methodology in these important matters."

Dr. W. W. Campbell, president of the University of California, Berkeley: "The aims of the movement have my unalloyed sympathy."

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford university, Palo Alto: "It is evident to me that we are entering upon a period of great extension in the use of the radio. I think that education and religion in its broadest sense have not as yet been adequately handled over the radio. I am hopeful that you can carry out your plans so that those forces that are striving to do the most for the elevation of character and the improvement of the mind of our citizens may have the full use of the radio."

Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles: "It is a matter of keen interest to me to learn something of a plan for the establishment of such a radio broadcasting station in Southern California. I should be glad to be of any possible personal service in bringing the plans to a successful issue."

Dr. Walter Dexter, president of Whittier college, Whittier: "One of the greatest needs of Southern California relative to the matter of broadcasting is the establishment of a station which would carry the message of a group of progressive thinkers in the realm of religion and education. I heartily indorse the project."

Bishop W. Bertrand Stevens, bishop coadjutor of the Los Angeles diocese of the Episcopal church, Los Angeles: "The possibilities of such a station in the fields of religion, education and social service are enormous. I feel grateful to the conference of the Methodist church in initiating such a movement."

Dr. George A. Warner, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Santa Ana: "The radio is putting on a world revolution of which we are scarcely conscious. It multiplies the audience in an untold ratio for one who has a message."

PAJAMAS LESS COLORFUL

LONDON, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Those multi-colored pajamas for women, more suited to afternoon tea than sleep, have had their day in England. Quiet-colored styles are all the rage here now.

The reason for this, according to one woman fashion expert, is that they find lurid colors are not conducive to sleep. Bright reds, purples, and green, with huge trailing flowers, are anything but restful, she declared.

UMBRELLA ROUTS EAGLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Rolling pins and umbrellas are dangerous weapons in the hands of a woman. A huge eagle found that out at the Lake Mohonk colony when he swooped into one of the observation towers on Eagle Cliff. A few well-directed blows with an umbrella in the hands of Mrs. Frank Taft soon caused the bird to beat a hasty retreat.

was foreseen today at the United States weather bureau. Unsettled weather for the next 24 hours was the prediction.

The rain began falling at 9 o'clock last night and continued intermittently until shortly before daybreak. The precipitation was general along the coast.

A strong wind accompanied the storm down the coast, doing slight damage in the Oxnard-Santa Paula district. At Hueneme Beach the storm broke up an Armistice Day celebration and tore down two large trees and several telephone poles.

The rainfall at Santa Barbara was close to an inch.

The storm extended inland beyond San Bernardino and snow fell on the higher mountains in that vicinity.

Pasadena, Pomona, Riverside, Redlands and other towns in the citrus belt all reported a heavy downpour. The rains reached San Diego about midnight.

LABOR DEMAND IN U. S. ON INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(UP)—President Coolidge has received a report from Secretary of Labor Davis of a large increase in demand for labor, especially during October, and of indications that seasonal unemployment would not be as heavy as usual, the White House revealed today.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Instead of seeking hither and yon for solace for your grief, give up to your faith in the Master Man whose love has done and is doing for the world what no else has done.
Science and philosophy will progress and open new fields to conquest. The classical of poetry and art will be better understood but will not be surpassed; there is a superlative and a deathless quality about them.

Likewise through the years you will increasingly know Jesus Christ and learn to triumph in accord with His teachings and example. Do not waste time and energy looking elsewhere for strength; seek it from Him.

SHAYER—At his home, 452 West Eighth street, November 11, 1928, Lewis Shayer, age 88 years. Father of L. B. Shayer of Long Beach, M. T. Shayer of Miami, Florida, and Ellenora Shayer of Santa Ana. Funeral services will be Wednesday at 10 a. m. from Smith and Tutthill's chapel.

COOK—In South Pasadena, Nov. 12, 1928, Mildred Norris Cook, wife of Clyde Cook, athletic instructor at Santa Ana high school. Funeral services will be Wednesday, November 14, at 2 p. m. from the chapel of Turner-Stevens and Berry, 1000 Fremont avenue, South Pasadena.

BROOKS—In Santa Ana, November 9, Miss Clara B. Brooks, age 46 years, of Costa Mesa. Services from the Winbigler Mission Funeral home, Thursday, November 15, at 2 p. m.

AUSTIN—At 327 East Washington, November 13, 1928, Martha Austin, age 78 years, mother of Tom Austin of Moore Croft, Wyoming, and Mrs. S. E. Blancher of 327 East Washington street, Santa Ana. Shipments will be made to Platt, South Dakota by Smith and Tutthill, where the funeral services and interment will be held.

ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION IS HUGE SUCCESS

With each division led by pages clad in blue jerkins, white trousers and high red boots, the "Parade of Nations," marched its way into history to martial music furnished by 12 bands at Orange County's Tenth Annual Armistice Day celebration, yesterday, in Orange.

The 50,000 spectators who lined the streets cheered continuously as the marchers, representing 48 nations of the world, passed in review. Preceding them were the service clubs, fraternal organizations and patriotic orders of the county.

The first prize in the costume groups of the Orange county schools participating in the Armistice day parade held in Orange, yesterday, was awarded to the Placentia grammar school. Members of this group, representing peoples in the fields of Flanders, were attired in green, with neck ruffles of red and carried white crosses. They were followed by refugees, carrying their household goods back to their desolate homes.

Garden Grove Second
The second award was made to the Garden Grove intermediate school, representing Japan; third to the Orange Parochial school, as Germany; fourth to the Anaheim central school, as Denmark; and fifth to the Julia Lathrop school, of Santa Ana, as Canterbury Pilgrims.

First prize in the organizations class was awarded to the Orange P. E. O. for their "Godey Book Ladies;" second to the Santa Ana Boy Scouts for the "Canadian trappers;" and third to the Huntington Beach Legion post, for the "Dancing Girls of Siam."

The best marching unit was considered by the judges to be the St. Catherine's military school unit of Anaheim. The Legion post having the most members in the parade was the Placentia post and the county post having the best marching unit was judged to be the Huntington Beach unit.

Judges were Carl Jens, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Jennie Lasby Tessa-mann, Santa Ana; Mrs. William Cummings, Orange; Mrs. C. C. Wagner, Placentia, and J. W. Price, Anaheim.

The Santa Ana high school and junior college were included in the first section of the brilliantly clad groups which constituted the four miles of line of march. Carnations, gypsies, Dons, toreadors, Don Quixote, Sancho Panza and the "bull" were represented by these students.

The Garden Grove intermediate school pictured the old commercial methods and the old means of transportation and concluded their section with a bevy of Japanese flower girls laden with arm loads of chrysanthemums.

Germany was represented by the Orange Parochial school and the folk tales of this country came to life in Hansel and Gretel, Snow White and the Dwarfs and the Little Red Ridinghood.

Pied Piper From Anaheim
The Pied Piper of Hamelin with crowds of fascinated children following him, was the entry of the Anaheim high school and Germans of the 10th century were represented by the Anaheim Ebell club. The Fullerton American Legion auxiliary presented a group of Algerian dancing girls.

With a real Irish jaunting cart as one of the centers of interest of their division, the Knights of Columbus of Santa Ana and Anaheim pictured in colorful costumes dainty collops, bent peasants and the lords and ladies of Erin.

Two groups were entered by the La Habra intermediate school in representing typical folks to be found in Poland, Portugal, with a shaggy donkey heavily laden, was the entry of the Brea Lions' club. Fullerton Ebell club presented the Rumanian group, Newport Beach American Legion Post, the dancing girls of India and the Huntington Beach Grammar school the Hindoo dancing girls.

The Frances Willard junior high school of Santa Ana showed the natives of Africa in holiday attire and the workers with the products of the country. The gypsies of today found in Hungary, were represented by the Fullerton American Legion Post.

TWO SECTIONS OF ARMISTICE DAY PARADE

The third division of the parade headed by the Pasadena Scouts band told the story of America from the early days to the present. Pathfinders of America were represented by the Orange intermediate school, Hawaii by the Orange Business and Professional Women's club, Navajo Indians by the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce, Plantation darters by the Fullerton Kiwanis club, early pioneers by the Fullerton Y. M. C. A.

The Orange Union high school

pictured 11 groups, Colonial, cow-boys, 49'ers, literary group, Ichabod, Rip van Winkle, Mrs. Rip van Winkle, Huckleberry Finn, Tom Sawyer and football heroes of the past and present.

Y. M. C. A. Represented
The Y. M. C. A. of Santa Ana, was responsible for the group of Hopi Indians, the Orange Chamber of Commerce for the Apache Indians, the Royal Neighbors of America for Huckleberry Finn, Tom and Nigger Jim, the Red Cross Unit, of Orange, for the unit of Red Cross nurses, the Orange Lions club for the Sulu Islanders and the Orange Daughters of the Union Veterans for the Civil War veterans.

Ladies in costumes that might well have been taken from Godey's book included members of the Orange P. E. O. and the Tustin intermediate school showed a huge melting pot whereby new comers are "Made In America."

The Canterbury Pilgrims from the "Miller" to the "Wife of Bath" were represented by students of the Julia Lathrop school, of Santa Ana; Scotland by the Orange B. P. O. E. No.

Anaheim Central school showed how the farmer folk of Denmark look; the Armenian group was shown by the Buena Park Woman's club; Austria, by the Anaheim Fremont school; Holland mads, by the Santa Ana Disabled War Veterans Auxiliary; Italy, by the Anaheim Union high school; Switzerland, by the Anaheim American Legion post; Siam, by the Huntington Beach American Legion post; Czechoslovakia, by the Santa Ana Kiwanis club; Arabia, by the Orange Rotary club; China, by the Anaheim American Legion post auxiliary, France, by the Anaheim Lincoln school and Mexico by the Fullerton Intermediate school.

Riding Club In Parade

The parade was concluded by the Orange County Riding club when the old west and old Spain again rode on the streets of Orange. Gaily clad riders Castile mingled with the riders of the plains. This division was headed by D. Eymann Huff and after the parade an exhibition of fancy riding was presented by the club in the plaza. A division of the club were dressed as English horsemen and women. Over one hundred members of the club were included in this division.

Directly after the parade a banquet was served to visiting officials at the American Legion hall by the Legion Auxiliary of Orange. Greetings to the visitors were extended by Past Commander of the Orange County council, Dick Haster of Garden Grove, W. O. Hart, of Orange, acting as toastmaster. Haster gave an outline of the founding of the American Legion and the purpose and aims of the organization.

Col. H. Green, of Los Angeles, and Col. Chase, of Los Angeles gave

COURT TAKES SPEEDY ACTION IN NINE CASES

Nine criminal cases on the court calendar were disposed of for today when Superior Judge James L. Allen's court convened at 9:30 a. m. Informations were filed by Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman and Deputy District Attorney Sam L. Collins, while arraignments and probation hearings were shown in for variety.

Probation with jail sentences attached was given to two men who appeared before the court today. G. E. Nally, charged with grand theft in connection with the disappearance of an automobile belonging to A. L. Foster, received probation over a 10-year period. The first two years and six months of the decade are to be spent in the county jail, however. Possession of a still cost Manuel Mina a $2000 fine at the end of his probation hearing. He also was given two years in the county jail and probation for five years.

Patrick Daley pleaded not guilty to a charge of burglary when he was arraigned today and his trial was set for 9:30 a. m., December 4. Daley told the court he didn't wish an attorney, but Judge Allen appointed George Holden as counsel, in order to save the court's time, he pointed out. Daley is alleged to have entered the home of Tim Kingston, near San Juan Capistrano, with the intent of burglarizing it.

Josephine Frias pleaded not guilty to a charge of adultery at her arraignment and her trial was set for 9:30 a. m., December 5. She was represented by F. H. Jacobs.

Kaufman filed an information against Thomas Lively, of Irvine station, who is charged with battery. November 19 was set as the date of Lively's arraignment. William J. Hinz was appointed to represent him.

Thomas L. Allen, charged with an offense against a young Santa Ana girl; Bob Turner and Joe Harmon, involved in the same affair, were in court today. Arraignment of Turner and Harmon was set for November 19 on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. A probation hearing for Allen was continued to November 19. He was represented by G. K. Scovel. A similar hearing for Godfrey Poetz, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, was continued to the same date.

JEROME TO PAY OFFICIAL VISIT TO ELKS LODGE

Santa Ana Elks have a special attraction in store for them tonight at the chapter session in the Elks clubhouse, for they will greet William C. Jerome, district deputy grand exalted ruler of California South, on his official visit to the lodge. The fact that Jerome is a member and a past exalted ruler of the Santa Ana order adds interest to his official visit in his new capacity as a state officer.

Tomorrow night the antlered herd will stage the second of its monthly social affairs of the winter season when it entertains at cards and dancing in the clubhouse on North Sycamore street.

Fred Chapman, general chairman in charge of the evening's entertainment, has secured Traveler's orchestra for the dancing, since the music furnished by that organization was such a popular feature of the October Ladies' night program. Card tables will be placed for those who prefer bridge. Special entertainment, in addition to cards and dancing, will be featured on the program, which will begin at 8:30. Arrangements have been made whereby each Elk will be privileged to ask friends from outside the order, so that an unusually large crowd is anticipated.

$2,000,000 ALCOHOL BLAZE

A federal revenue agent and another man were killed and $2,000,000 worth of damage resulted from this spectacular fire at Philadelphia. Nearly 750,000 gallons of alcohol, in the Publicker Commercial Alcohol Company plant, a government supervised distillery, exploded and wrecked the building before firemen could check the blaze.

ELECTRICITY MAY BE VITAL LIFE FACTOR

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—(UP)—That electricity is the governing force of human life, is the conclusion to which the medical profession is rapidly advancing, in the opinion of Dr. A. M. Elliott, chief of the British Red Cross in France during the World war and colonel in the Royal Army Medical corps of England.

An operation making a change and rest necessary brought Dr. Elliott to California.

"Electricity is undoubtedly the power which regulates the universe, keeping its children in order and avoiding chaos," Dr. Elliott said. "I am an exponent of the bi-polar theory of life which holds the nucleus of a life cell is negative and the protoplasm of its surrounding world positive."

Dr. Elliott explained that he believed the fluctuation of energy between the two forces must be maintained or the cell of life will die. He holds the professional opinion that electrical short circuits occur in human beings and that this phenomena is responsible for sudden death, surges of anger and other forces of temperament and lassitude.

"I also believe the day is not far distant when medical science will be able to create life," the doctor continued, "that is, the life-giving cell of which there are trillions in the human body, and that the frequencies of the human brain will some day be recorded and read as forces of electrical energy are now handled from transmitting radio stations."

"Charging of batteries of life by plenty of sleep and a flowing spirit of contentment and happiness are basic principles of life into which medical science is delving with startling rapidity," Dr. Elliott said.

Since he has seen practically all parts of the world except North America, the British physician chose New York, Canada and California in which to enjoy his enforced vacation.

PETTING WORRIES BERKELEY PEOPLE

BERKELEY, Nov. 13.—(UP)—There is so much "petting" along upper Euclid avenue and Grizzly Peak boulevard that the neighbors are getting worried.

In fact they demand, in no uncertain language, that this state of affairs must cease.

The Gragmont Improvement association is leading the war against the devotees of intertwining arms and warm caresses.

"This unwholesome condition much be abated by concentrated action," was the way W. A. Zimmerman, new president of the association, summed up the situation.

S. A. DELEGATES RETURN FROM KIWANIS MEET

Santa Ana delegates to the Kiwanis district convention in Sacramento, on October 8, 9 and 10, had returned home today enthusiastic over the success of the convention at which more than 900 persons registered. The Santa Ana delegates were Dr. MacVicker Smith and F. P. Nickey, both of whom were accompanied by their wives.

The Anaheim, San Clemente and La Habra clubs also were represented at the annual conference, Ray Frantz, La Habra; Hal Warner, San Clemente, and Messrs. Collings and Rundstrom, Anaheim, being among those in attendance from this county.

George Filmer, of San Francisco, was chosen governor of the district, succeeding W. O. Harris, the latter becoming immediate past district governor.

According to Dr. Smith, president of the Santa Ana club, some splendid addresses were delivered and many conferences were held that were profitable to those attending.

The Santa Ana club will elect officers at its meeting tomorrow and the annual installation party will be held at the Santa Ana Country club on the night of December 6.

Alleged Drunken Driver Fails To Make $500 Bail

The case of G. Hernandez, Capistrano Beach, arrested Sunday afternoon south of Tustin on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was set in Justice Kenneth Moraw's court tomorrow. He was arrested after officers had been forced to shoot a tire off his machine to stop him, they reported. Bail was fixed at $500, which Hernandez did not make.

ENGLAND MOVING, SCIENCE CLAIMS

PARIS, Nov. 13.—That the distance between England and France has increased five meters during the last 800 years is one of the possible deductions from new longitude reckonings made public by the Paris Observatory.

The longitude between Paris and Greenwich taken in the reign of Louis XIV in the seventeenth century was 9 minutes 20 seconds and 93 hundredths of a second. The new measurements reveal a difference of two hundredths of a second which reduced to linear measurement is five meters or about five yards and a half.

Scientists point out that the difference may be due to the greater accuracy of modern instruments. On the other hand, it may also be due to the generally accepted theory of the movement of the continents.

FRANCES WILLARD

Book Week
This week Willard is celebrating National Book week by concentrating on reading more books and developing a stronger appreciation of the best literature published for junior high school age. The books published for young people in recent years have a vitality, honesty and imaginative quality, reflecting the wide horizons of the modern world. The new books are taking their places along side the charming editions of older masterpieces, on children's own book shelves and in the school and public libraries. Great care is expended by the publishers on illustrations and typography, and boys and girls delight in the format of the new books as well as their contents. Many reviews of new publications and general articles on children's reading appear in magazines and newspapers at the time of Book week.

In the English classes special emphasis is being given the subject of books this week and a number of novel projects are being used which have inspired more enthusiasm.

"Ghost of Lollipop Bay"
The "Ghost of Lollipop Bay," this year's opera by the music students of Frances Willard, is well under way. Miss Esther Jean Davis and Miss Dorothea Smith are conducting practices every evening and from all evidence this promises to be the biggest hit ever put on by Willard school. The opera will be given in the Polytechnic high school on the evenings of December 6 and 7.

This year the proceeds from the entertainment will be used in paying for the new school radio which was recently purchased. All those who have had the opportunity of hearing any parts from the opera have been delighted with them and have expressed hearty interest to see the production when completed.

Win Championship
The girls of the third section of the low eighth grade won the school inter-class basketball title when they won their final game from the 6-J section, high ninth graders.

Miss Flavan, girls' physical education director, is well pleased with the games played in the recent inter-class tournament. The 3-T section includes the following girls, Josephine Madrid, the girls' athletic manager; Gertrude Campbell, Violet Weidman, Ethel Clifton, Helen Moore and Margaret Arrowsmith. The 6-J section which came in second included Gertrude Chapman, girls' athletic manager, Vivian Frazer, Frances Miller, Mary Ortiz, Ramona Gilbert, Dorothy Schorle and Opal Smith.

Parlez-Vous Francais?
The French club, under the direction of Miss Marian Libby, has learned 47 words and phrases and all members are making good progress. Another accomplishment of note is that the club has learned the French national anthem.

The officers are, president, Catherine Raiche; vice president, John Ramirez; secretary, Eloise Schrier. —Floyd Elliott

Armistice Day
Last Friday the assembly program was in the nature of an Armistice day celebration, with a variety of interesting musical numbers. The school orchestra, under the direction of S. J. Mustel, opened the program by playing a medley of southern melodies which were enjoyed by the audience. Their second number was "Let's Have a Little Fun."

Maurice Phillips, accompanied by Harry Garstang, delighted the audience with "The Recessional," and several of his well known funny songs which were most entertaining. Mr. Phillips has sung before the Willard student body before.

Marvin Rohrs, high ninth grader, played several guitar solos, including "Stars and Stripes Forever," "Taps," and "Spanish Fandango."

ROOSEVELT

Pottery
On Tuesday, October 30, the low sixth class made Indian pottery out of clay in Miss Walker's room. Almost all of the pieces turned out nicely. The class made vases, bowls, water basins and other things. Students will probably color them Friday.

Thursday, November 1, the low sixth grade went in to Miss Walker's room to hear some records that Mrs. Greenwood played for them. She told the students a story about a little boy who went to hear a musician play. He was only four years old, but when he got home he asked his parents for a violin. They thought he meant a toy one, but he said he wanted a real violin. They said he was too little for it, but they got him one, and today he is a great musician.

Wednesday, October 31, the classes of Roosevelt school had Halloween parties. Each class returned to its class teacher for the last period. The low sixth party was in Miss Walker's room. The children played a nut game and poor pussy. While the children were eating refreshments riddles were told. Apples, popcorn balls, candy and gingerbread were served. The children who brought these things were Doris Creel, Leonard Ash, Ruth Becker, Charles Kaufman, Evelyn Coffman, Keith Stewart, Roger Fuller, Louise Crawford, Earl Peck, Valdes Baurle, Genevieve and Lenore McFadden, Keith Stewart, Valeda Baurle, Evelyn Coffman McFarren planned the entertainment.

Lenore McFarren Book Reports
In Miss Camblin's room the low sixth grade is going to make book reports. The children first read a book, then write a report. They must have at least five reports.

If they are not prepared they must learn some extra memory work.

Ruth Becker
Miss Wells asked the boys and girls to bring papers and magazines to school. The boys keep their papers in one place, while the girls keep theirs in a different place. The Roosevelt P-T-A. has offered a treat to the ones who bring the most.

Genevieve McFarren Indoor
Wednesday, November 6, Roosevelt had an indoor game on Roosevelt's own grounds. The Roosevelt girls played the McKinley girls. The score was 29 to 9 in McKinley's favor. The girls played as hard as they could.

Jim Grass
The girls that play on the Roosevelt team are Louise Crawford, pitcher; Frances Was, catcher; Verna Marshall, first base; Genevieve McFarren, first short; Florence Drewes, second base; Louise Moreno, second short; Beverly Weindorf, third base; Julianne Woven, left field; Grace Everett, center field; and Lenore McFarren, right field. —Thelma Hicks

JULIA LATHROP

"Mexico"
On Monday, November 5th, Lathrop students were privileged to hear a talk on "Mexico and the Desert Indians" by Dr. Frederick Monsen. About 125 students attended the assembly. Dr. Monsen went to the Enchanted desert as a member of the Geological survey about 40 years ago. He became fascinated with the desert and its primitive people and has made a life study of them. His photographic studies of desert life and people were works of art and added greatly to his interesting comments on these subjects.

Straw votes were cast by Lathrop students for their choice for president. The returns were as follows: High nines, Hoover 57 votes and Smith 16; low nines, Hoover 123 votes and Smith 51; high eights, Hoover 68 votes and Smith 8 votes; low eights, Hoover 109 and Smith 44; high sevens, Hoover 39 and Smith 21; low sevens, Hoover 88 and Smith 30. This voting was carried on through the home room classes and was organized as a citizenship project through the efforts of Miss Lella Thrasher of the social studies department.

Roosevelt School
Barbara Allen, Marion Peters, Curtis Garrett and J. D. Parsons were representatives of the Lathrop lineup at the Southern California junior and senior high school press convention at Compton last Friday. They were accompanied by Ralph Baker, faculty advisor for the paper.

Reports are still coming in from the various activities of clubs at Lathrop. The Girls' Athletic club left last Friday evening for Camp Emma Otis to spend the weekend. Games and stunts helped to pass the time on Friday. Saturday morning a treasure hunt at Hart creek was organized. After an outdoor meal of boiled steaks and popcorn later in the evening, the girls went to bed outdoors. Girls who enjoyed this trip were Maydel Allan, Mary Eudaly, Kamaka Okamoto, Flora Hemphill, Rebecca McPeak, Jeannette Roby, Eunice Tysal, Nellie Stratton, Winifred Triplett, Dorothy Carrie, Hilda Davis, Irma Borland, Barbara Copeland, Doris Rimel, Leora Hatch and Betty Dunton. Those teachers who shared the outing were Miss Rideout and Miss Collins of the physical education department and Miss Jones of the social studies department.

Letterman
The Lathrop Letterman's club, represented the Canterbury Pilgrims in the Armistice day parade held at Orange. Costumes for their part in the parade were designed for members of the club by Miss Cornell, Miss Foster and Miss Deane. The "horses" which the boys rode were cut out of the shops and painted by the art classes.

The high nine sewing classes have handed in over ten pairs of pajamas and many very interesting notebooks. The girls are anxious to start their work on the dresses which will be the next quarter's project.

Members of the Unalut Camp Fire girls were delightedly entertained Saturday evening by Gloria Hunt at her home at 509 McFadden street. Attractive Halloween costumes were worn by the attending guests. The evening was spent very happily with fortune telling, contests and games suitable to October's holidays, followed by delicious refreshments. Those girls who were bidden to the party were Mary Eudaly, Dolly Boyle, Norma Thatcher, Alline Buck, Lois Becker, Katherine Cartwright, Merlene Julien, Flora Hemphill, Alice Boyd, Ruth Dunn, Bobby West and the hostess, Gloria Hunt. Guardians of the Camp Fire, Miss Jones and Miss Collins of the Lathrop faculty were present.

Join Forces
The Scrap Book and Stamp clubs have joined forces in making overseas booklets for the Junior Red Cross society. These booklets will consist of collections of material illustrating industrial, home life and school life of Southern California. It is hoped that 15 booklets will be finished for mailing by the Christmas holiday season. A page of United States stamps will be included in each book and a request made for a similar book from the foreign group receiving the Lathrop contribution. Miss Nicholson and Miss Carson are sponsors for these clubs and are very much interested in the success of the project.

Aviation
There are about 60 boys enrolled in aviation, these boys are these days of world-wide interest in Lathrop's Aviation club. In building for the future in their club, Mr. Rowley of the manual training department, who is in charge of the club, showed models of airplanes at the last meeting and gave instructions for building them. Requirements for members are that each boy must have a flying model completed by the close of the Christmas vacation. If he fails to comply with this regulation he will lose his club membership.

Miss Dorothy Broadway and Miss Esther Jean Davis introduced a new Willard song which the audience practiced for a few minutes.

Miss Dorothea Smith sang two lovely solos, "At the Well" by Hageman, and "The Cuckoo Clock" by Gran-Schaffer. She was accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong.

The next number was the first public appearance of the Harmonica club under the direction of Miss Davis. They played "America" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Mr. Kellogg next introduced John Johnston, editor-in-chief of the "Willard Arrow," who talked to the students about the necessity for raising a subscription for the paper.

The last number on the program was a procession across the platform of those taking part in the Armistice day parade at Orange. Willard was given the part of northern Africa and made a fine representative appearance of that part.

Service Club
The Willard Service club held its last meeting in the Willard banquet room last Tuesday. The meeting was called to order by the president, Glen Evans, H. G. Nelson, principal of Lathrop junior high school, was the honored guest and speaker of the day. Mr. Nelson made a fine talk and the boys appreciated having him for their guest. The next speaker was Curtis Garrett, president of the I. X. L. club of Lathrop. He congratulated the boys on having such a fine club organized. During the luncheon the boys listened to a program over the school radio.

—Robert Tannenbaum

The Girls' Tennis club, under the direction of Miss Anita Summers, has been divided into six doubles. At the next meeting each girl will bring some real question in regard to tennis and discuss it during the club class period. They expect to play the boys in a little tournament soon. The presidents of each club will keep the schedule of games.

—Wilma Rice

PARENT-TEACHERS
A reception for the teachers and new members of the Roosevelt school was held Thursday evening in the kindergarten room, this taking the place of the November meeting of the P-T-A. Mrs. Perring, the president, presided and all business was left to the December meeting of the association.

A short program was enjoyed, everyone joining in the singing of a P-T-A. song. The Rev. James Hughes sang two solos, "Builders" and "There Is No Death" for Armistice day. Mrs. Perring then asked Miss Wells, the principal, to say a few words. Mrs. Hubbard closed this part of the program with two solos, "Rose in the Box" and "Miss Hanna." Mrs. H. G. Wetherell accompanied, and for an encore Mrs. Hubbard gave a negro dialect monologue.

A number of games had been planned with Mrs. V. L. Barge in charge, a baseball game between the mothers and the teachers was very exciting, the mothers scoring the most points in the game and winning the contest. Sides were chosen for a spelling match. Charles Perring called the words. Groups for refreshments were formed in a clever manner, each group to plan some stunt to enact for the entertainment of the others.

Willard
Willard P-T-A. celebrated Fathers' night Thursday.

Miss Dorothy Cartwright spoke briefly on Girl Reserve work. Several numbers of the coming Willard opera under the direction of Miss Ester Jean Davis, were heard.

"The Adolescent Child" was the study of the evening and Will S. Kellogg spoke on the physical, Miss Vanche Plumb on the mental, and Miss Margaret Van Scoyce on the emotional development of the child of this age.

A social hour followed the meeting when members were guests of the ninth grade mothers.

FROM the time he was twenty, and only a brakeman on a branch of a railroad that cut its way through the beautiful valleys of Pennsylvania and Ohio, Jim Dawson had carried around in his high young heart an envy. Not a vicious kind of envy; not a revengeful one. But a passionate, aching, yearning envy for the man who had inadvertently snatched a major happiness away from him.

When Jim was the aforesaid twenty, and was making the stretch of the Ohio and Pennsylvania territory on the spur of a railroad where he was ultimately to occupy a twenty-year position as engineer, he spied, in the window of a cottage that bordered his run, and promptly fell in love with, a really irresistible young minx of a girl named Haidee Strong.

She was the daughter of a truck-farmer. She had hair the color of molasses, which she wore in the old-fashioned prettiness of a spray of curls over her shoulders. All she needed to complete the picture of idyllic youth of some two decades ago, was a sunbonnet to hang by the strings from her neck. But that would not have been Haidee. She was too blithe a spirit, too sprayed with a daring kind of youth ever to shield from the glare of light those eyes of hers which were as blue as heaven.

JIM DAWSON talked to this sprite of a girl over the paling-fence that surrounded her cottage for months in the brief shining moments during which his engine stopped for water at a tank that bordered the holdings of Farmer Strong. There was never a moment that he hesitated in his capitulation to the charm of this candy-colored sprite. He brought her sweets from Altoona; nonsense gimcracks from Pittsburgh; fruits, which he considered of her own fullsome beauty, from the orchard towns of Ohio.

He wooed her with a vim and a gusto that went with his kind of make-up. A kindly boy, full of kindly zest for life. He wooed her and all but won her. Strange, with what a hair-breadth fraction of a fraction of an inch Jim Dawson missed out on Haidee.

A young farmer named Scott Douglas, with considerable orchard holdings outside of Xenia, Ohio, met Haidee at a country dance just one week before Jim had planned that she would become engaged to him. The night Jim came to propose, he was met with the news of the elopement of Haidee and Scott.

It was not just one of those blows to youth. It was a devastating, crashing catastrophe from which this big, husky fellow, who walked the top of freight cars as nonchalantly as if they had been sidewalks and whose lantern swung through the brilliant, star-specked nights in the valleys, and who was ultimately to run a passenger train in and out the curving, tortuous mountain country in the part of Pennsylvania he loved best, could not recover. He was mortally wounded. It was a deep, lacerating blow after which he was never, in twenty subsequent years, to be the same.

STRANGE thing, but as Jim matured and his ideas about life and about women changed, the sun-kissed figure of that sprite, Haidee, as she hung on the paling fence with a fan of curls over her shoulders, was a medallion in his heart that the years could not tarnish. Haidee it had been and Haidee it was.

Just close his eyes—and there was Haidee, golden, young, vivid. The rhythm of the wheels of the great engine he drove for years sang to him of Haidee. A tragic song, the song of a life lost, a life made permanently sad, by an irreparable loss.

Yet, too, a song of strange appeal, that song made by the rhythm of the rolling wheels. So much a part of his life that he could not have lived without listening to its fateful, never-changing cadences. The cadences of the song of his Haidee.

His Haidee—his lost Haidee!

Almost his Haidee—and then the despair, the overwhelming blackness, of that awful night when he had gone confidently to claim the love he thought Haidee was ready to give him.

Time and again he would live through the

She had hair the color of molasses. She was a blithe spirit, sprayed with a daring kind of youth, with eyes as blue as heaven.

And there was never a moment when Jim hesitated in his capitulation to the charm of this candy-colored sprite. He wooed her with a vim and gusto that went with his kindly zest for life.

bleak, cold hours just after he learned of Haidee's elopement. Hour after hour, day after day, year after year, he would go through the torment of those dreadful minutes.

And cruelly, there was never a time, in the subsequent years, that the story of Haidee and her destiny was not passing before his eyes.

The father of Haidee and the young farmer from Ohio consolidated their interests, each of them selling out and investing in larger and better property, again on Jim's train run. Every day, year in and year out, he passed the home of Haidee. He saw her children appear, one by one. He saw her first bloom fade and the second and richer one of middle-age set in. He sat at the funeral of her father. He beheld her husband thicken and broaden as the years clamped down upon him.

Day by day, year by year, Jim beheld the fruits that should have been his set down before another. He became the friend of the family. Haidee's children clamored about his knees and called him "Uncle". Scott Douglas, when times were pressing, came to him for loans. Haidee sent him boxes on Christmas and would wave at him, when her time permitted, from the windows of her large new farmhouse as his train sped by.

THAT was how, year in and year out, Jim Dawson carried the envy. It was with a yearning and a longing and a pensiveness that must have left a chasm in his heart, like unto the chasm cut into the rocks through which his train wound.

When Haidee's first child, a lovely girl, was graduated from the rural school, Jim sent her a hundred dollars. When Haidee and Scott celebrated their fifteenth anniversary, Jim sent them a hundred dollars. When Haidee's second child, a boy named Jim, and powerful, was fourteen and wanted to go to high school in Indianapolis, it was Jim who made that possible. And always, with the sweetness that characterized her, Haidee let him give, because Haidee, in turn, would have given in like circumstance.

IT was in keeping with the entire irony of this relentless situation that one night, while Scott Douglas was away from home on a farming deal that had taken him to Xenia, Jim was frantically summoned by telephone to the home of the Douglasses. Something terrible had happened. Haidee had broken a lamp shade polishing it and a bit of the broken glass had cut an artery. It was a matter of life and death.

And Haidee, who loved life, fought for it valiantly. Two doctors fought for it with her. The need of Scott there was imperative. It was without anyone in particular advising it that Jim began his race of the one hundred and ten miles toward Xenia in the family Ford.

The recording of Jim Dawson's thoughts on that grim, terrible ride against death would have been almost the recording of the pain, the travail, the ecstasies, the fears and hopes of his lifetime. Jim's love of life was bleeding to death back there on that bed in the farmhouse where Haidee lay. Turbulently, half-frenziedly, it seemed to Jim more than ever that he envied Scott. This was to be Scott's grief. This was to be Scott's loss. Scott was about to lose what Jim could never lose. The poignancy of Scott's grief over the loss of Haidee, his wife, could never be Jim's kind of grief. Here he was—destined to envy Scott, even his pain. On a record run that was to go down in the countryside as legend, Jim brought Scott back to Haidee just ten minutes before she died. She breathed out in his arms, the two of them alone, while in the downstairs room, surrounded by her children, Jim sat, suffering and envying the intimacy of the pain that was Scott's.

IT was two weeks after the death of Haidee that a note came to Jim, delivered by an aunt of Haidee's who lived on a neighboring farm. It had been given her by Haidee two years before, for just such an exigency as her sudden death. It was a simple note, but it was to radiate over what was left of a lifetime for one human being. It read:

Dear Jim:

I made my mistake in life and I stood by it. But in death, I want you to know it.
Haidee.

That was all. But to Jim, it was everything.

Spanish Village Residents Get Water At Cost

JUNIOR POLICE FORCE FORMED IN SEAL BEACH

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 13.—Plans for the formation of a junior police force in Seal Beach are going ahead rapidly. Chief Johnson expects to select two boys from the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades. The boys will meet the chief once each week to discuss ordinances, motor vehicle laws and to report on development in their work.

Protecting little children, protecting vacant property, looking after broken glass on the streets and alleys and assisting to create peace and harmony are among the duties assumed by the assisting officers.

Judge Frank Wilson and J. H. McGough, principal of the school, have offered the boys their cooperation.

The boys will serve a limited time as officers and if found faithful to their duties will be held as honorary members and called upon with their successors in office when special need of assistance arises as in case of crowds at the beach, fires, etc.

Proposals!

A glance at her blonde loveliness tells better than words why this beautiful New York City girl has received such flattering proposals from kings of movie and stage land. She is Collette Francis, of 255 East 25th St., Brooklyn, now one of the charmers in the Broadway hit, "Rio Rita."

Miss Francis says: "Since I've been on the stage, so many people have asked me what I do to get the beautiful golden gleam and sparkle in my hair that I am beginning to think I'm really taking wonderful care of it. I really never thought much about it. What I do is so simple. Like so many of my girl friends here in New York, I just put a little Danderine on my brush each time I use it. That keeps my hair silky and gleaming, makes it easy to dress and holds it like I arrange it, for hours. My scalp was very dry and I had a lot of dandruff when I first started on it, but all of that trouble stopped quickly. And Danderine keeps my hair so clean I don't need to shampoo half as often, now."

Danderine removes that oily film from your hair and gives it new life and lustre. It isn't oily and doesn't show. It gives tone and vigor to the scalp. The generous bottles are just 35c at any drug or toilet counter. A delicately fragrant necessity for the well-groomed girl—Adv.

Two La Habrans Suffer Injuries From Automobiles

LA HABRA, Nov. 13.—Claude Young is recovering from injuries suffered over the week end, when he fell from the running board of a car. He received a severe scalp wound.

C. W. Cooksey was struck by a car and knocked to the pavement over the week end. Two ribs were broken and a deep gash was cut in his right leg.

ANAHEIM PHYSICIAN IS CHURCH SPEAKER

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 13.—Dr. H. Johnson, head of the John-Wickett clinic in Anaheim, spoke at the morning service of the Westminster Presbyterian church, taking up the subject of science as pertaining to the Scriptures.

There were 152 in attendance at this service. A special number, "There Is a Fountain," was sung by the women's chorus of the church.

In the evening the pastor spoke on "Neighbors and Neighborliness" to a packed house and many new faces were noted, each member having brought a neighbor.

The nursery for the convenience of the mothers not wishing to take their children into the auditorium is proving satisfactory under the charge of Mrs. George Prindle.

Announcement was made of the missionary praise service for Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Hooper, a returned missionary from the Philippines, will speak.

Announcement of the meeting of teachers and officers Thursday evening of this week was made. All department heads taking part in the loyalty crusade are to attend the dinner which is to be given at 6:30 o'clock and all teachers are required to be present for the meeting to be held at 8 o'clock that evening. Both meetings are scheduled for the Santa Ana Presbyterian church.

SEAL BEACH

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 13.—The Ladies Aid society will hold an all day meeting Thursday in Central auditorium with a covered dish luncheon at noon. Plans for the coming bazaar and for the father and son banquet will be discussed. The event has been postponed from this evening to November 19.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Brown, recent residents of Seal Beach, sold half of their property at Belleflower for more than enough to clear the entire home.

Mrs. M. L. Collins is expecting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Eaton, to spend some time with her in California.

An interesting copy of an Ashtabula, Ohio, paper was passed around among former residents of that place this week. The special edition contained the pictures of many pioneer residents and familiar land marks. Among those who culled its pages were Mrs. Anna Collier, postmistress; Mrs. Susan Carpenter and daughter, Miss Helen, and J. J. Rochford.

O. A. Apple writes from Chicago that he is fast getting enough of snow and cold and plans to return to Seal Beach soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Voight and Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler left by auto for Texas Monday morning.

EL MODENA

EL MODENA, Nov. 13.—Miss Clara Snyder entertained a group of girls at a 6 o'clock chicken dinner Friday evening in honor of Miss Lucia Barr's birthday. After dinner the girls attended the play at the high school in Orange. Miss Lucia received a number of presents. The following were present: Ruth Stoner, Henrietta Settle, Orpha Stantfield, Jane Crawford, Marjorie Lan Franco, Frances Barnett, the honoree, Lucia Barr, and the hostess, Clara Snyder.

Mrs. Henrietta Reep of Alpaugh is visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Settle. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Broadston, also of Alpaugh, brought Mrs. Reep down Friday evening. Mr. Broadston is principal of the schools in Alpaugh and Mrs. Broadston is one of the teachers.

The El Modena Women's Christian Temperance Union will meet in the home of Mrs. W. A. Settle Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m. All are invited to attend.

George Wood and his brother, Jim Wood, of Orange, are taking a two weeks trip on the desert.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Warner and little son, Charles Ernest, had supper in the W. A. Settle home Saturday evening.

SAN CLEMENTE FORMING NEW WATER OFFICE

SAN CLEMENTE, Nov. 13.—The San Clemente city council acting as a committee of the whole, is laying plans for the organization of the water department. When Ole Hanson and H. H. Cotton, representing the syndicate which laid out the town, presented the half million dollar water system to the city for a dollar bill, they informed Mayor Thomas Murphine that they would bear all expenses of the plant until the first of the new year.

The first water bills go out February 1. All cost of water will be based on the cost of operating and maintaining the plant. Under such a plan this city should be able to furnish water at a low rate to its users, it is declared.

One of the first acts of the council will be the appointment of a superintendent of water. Men will be needed at the pumping plant, the booster plant and at aerating points. A man will be needed to take care of the plant and grounds of the reservoir just east of the city.

It is planned to have the city clerk take care of the bookkeeping until the system grows so large that a special business department is needed.

Mayor Murphine and Ole Hanson Jr., water commissioner, stated that complete details of the city water department will be ready for the public within a few weeks.

LEASES LAND, BUYS MIDWAY CITY HOME

MIDWAY CITY, Nov. 13.—A sale of property has been made in Midway City by Ed L. Hensley, local realtor, who sold the six-room residence at the corner of Washington and Van Buren streets, to Armand Heil, of Chowchilla.

Heil, who has been ranching in the north, moved one truckload of furnishings into the house at once. Mrs. Heil and the children motored down Saturday.

There are four children in the Heil family, all of whom are to enter the Westminster school.

Mr. Heil will ranch here, having completed a lease for the former Leo Borchard ranch of 160 acres from the Anaheim Sugar company. The property is in the Talbert district.

Mrs. R. R. Suess entertained members of the Midway City Civic and Social club at her home in the Pacific Southwest poultry division at Midway City recently.

Funeral Services For Wintersburg Man Wednesday

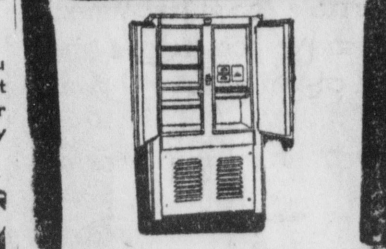

WINTERSBURG, Nov. 13.—Funeral services for Jack Doyle, resident of the Liberty Park tract, who died Saturday, will be held Wednesday morning in the Huntington Beach Catholic church, with the Dixon funeral parlors in charge.

Mr. Doyle, who was employed in the Santa Fe Springs oil field, was taken ill suddenly Saturday morning and died of acute indigestion on the way to the Artesia hospital. The deceased is survived by his widow. The services at the grave will be conducted by the Moose lodge and interment will be in the Catholic cemetery in Los Angeles. The deceased was a native of Ireland.

VISITS MAYOR

John F. Murphy, at one time a law partner of Thomas Murphine in Seattle, was the guest of San Clemente's first mayor over the week end. Murphy is now located in Beverly Hills and is practicing law in Los Angeles. His two children, Jack and Maurice, are well known in movie circles, having taken an active part in pictures for years.

Hoo Cares? 'Tis Certain Owl Doesn't

SAN CLEMENTE, Nov. 13.—This is the story of a lady bug who believed in squatter rights. An owl with an outlaw complex. Also of hot words in a real estate office about cards on lot stakes being lost.

The lady bug, in search of a new home, found an ideal location between lot tags and the stakes to which they were driven. Everything was eggs in the coffee until the owl, on a midnight forage, discovered the lady bug. The owl pecked away at the card on which the price of the lot was painted, tore it away and ate the lady bug.

An ambitious salesman with a prospect walked to the stake to show the buyer the price of the lot. But there was no tag. Then he stormed into his sales manager's office and hot words flew. Tom Murphine started an investigation. The lady bug was to blame. But the owl just hoots and hoots at night looks for more lady bugs who believe in squatter rights.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Nov. 13.—Special Epworth league services were held Sunday evening at the Wintersburg Methodist church, when Mr. Hawley, Epworth league speaker, took charge, speaking on "What Christianity Means to Young People." Mr. Hawley pleased with a solo, "In the Garden," and Mrs. Hawley rendered as a piano solo, "Nearer My God to Thee. Two harmonica solos were played by Cecil Balle, young musician of Wintersburg.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. Scott Willmarth were down for the day. The Rev. Mr. Willmarth occupied the pulpit, stating that was the first sermon he had preached in English for a year, his position as superintendent of Mexican work for the Methodist church making it necessary for him to use the Spanish language altogether.

The Rev. Mr. Willmarth was accompanied by their youngest son and daughter, James and Elizabeth Willmarth, and all were over night guests of friends in the community.

Gardner Willmarth, who attends the College of the Pacific, was released Sunday from the hospital, where he was taken Thursday following injuries sustained in a football game. The Rev. Mr. Willmarth was in Stockton last week visiting his daughter and son and also saw Miss Muriel Moore, of this place, who is a student at the college.

Alfred Stinson, who is employed in Los Angeles, spent the week end in Wintersburg with his parents.

The newly organized choir led the singing at Sunday's service for the first time. The choir practice is to be held each Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock and all wishing to attend are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Emmons spent Saturday in Compton, where they visited Mr. Emmons' sister and family. A nephew, Harold Luke, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Emmons home to remain over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Arnold and daughter, Virginia, were Sunday visitors in China.

Mrs. T. McKay and sons, Owen and Jim McKay, of Los Angeles, were entertained over the week end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. McKay.

SAINTS DEFEAT GLENDALE GRID SQUAD, 18 TO 0

Those who like their uncolored statistics will like this, arranged as it is in first down sequences: Reboin 6 and Spencer 3; Spencer 5 and Reboin 7; Spencer 0 and Reboin 12; Reboin 1, Spencer 7 and Spencer 2; Spencer 5, Reboin 2, Reboin and Reboin 3; Reboin 8 and Reboin 2 for a first down a yard from the Glendale goal—and Spencer over left tackle for a touchdown.

Actually in that drive was a whole lot of good blocking by the Saints' veteran line and their inexperience but rapidly learning backfield and some marvelous hole-picking by Reboin and line plunging by the 144-pound pile-driver, Spencer.

Reboin's attempted conversion was wide by several feet and the score was 6 to 0.

There was no other scoring during the half but Santa Ana, as it did during nine-tenths of the afternoon, had possession of the pigskin almost continuously, giving Glendale absolutely no opportunity to threaten.

A second Saint drive followed close on the heels of the first successful one but the Dynamiters fought so hard on their goal-line that they wrestled the ball away from their tormentors who rarely used anything except straight football weapons.

Santa Ana kicked off after its touchdown and forced Glendale to kick back, Reboin returning the ball to his 40-yard mark and then getting away for 25 yards on the first play. He added five more off tackle and Spencer contributed two and Reboin made it a first down with an 8-yard plunge off tackle.

At's next run was good for 11 yards and put the ball on Glendale's 10-yard line. Reboin made one on a wide end sweep and then took the ball out of bounds without gain. Spencer smashed over guard for four and Reboin tried to buck it over off tackle on the fourth down but was stopped three yards short.

The remainder of the half was fairly even because Everett got off a couple of beautiful sky-scraping punts which Reboin had no chance whatever to run back and the half ended with Santa Ana leading by the none too substantial margin of 6 to 0.

Another one of those inspiring Santa Ana offensive drives sent followers of the White Wave into seventh heaven with the opening of the second half. Glendale kicked off to Crumley who came in to his 23-yard line.

Spencer broke through left guard on the first play, shook off two tacklers and ran 26 yards to mid-field before he was downed by the Glendale safety, the last thing between him and the goal posts.

Then, while the Dynamiters were watching every movement of the speedy Reboin, Crumley and Spencer teamed on off-tackle smashes and pounded the ball in a series of first downs to the Glendale 8-yard line. Reboin cut back through seven of these, Spencer bucked it to within inches of the last line and Reboin took it over with plenty to spare but his attempted goal kick was wide again and the score was 12 to 0.

They exchanged kicks twice before the Saints got and took advantage of a break when Forrester fumbled on his own 23-yard line and the alert

Wurster dropped on the ball for the White Wave.

That close to another score, there was no stopping the Santa Anans although for the first time in the afternoon they were forced to open up a notch to get a badly needed first down. With four yards to go, Reboin shot a short pass to Crumley who made it "first and ten" on the 11-yard line.

Spencer made four through center at the third quarter closed. Crumley opened the last period with a short advance and Reboin was stopped 3 yards short of the goal. Then, with fourth and three, Spencer whirled off his right tackle for a touchdown on a fake reverse. Reboin's drop kick was low and the count was 18 to 0.

It remained that way, too, although Santa Ana made a bid for a fourth touchdown a few minutes later when Lloyd Nuzum, on running plays, and "Red" Cooke on a forward pass from Reboin, rushed the ball to the 27-yard line in a half a dozen attempts. Reboin and Spencer picked up another first down and Nuzum and Spencer carried the ball to the 4-yard line for a "first and ten." A low pass to Nuzum from center and a penalty cost the Saints their opportunity, however, and on last down they were held on the 1-yard line after Spencer had made back most of the lost yardage with a 7-yard smash on a fake reverse. Glendale had just time enough to kick out to its own 20-yard line as the one-sided combat closed.

Picking out individual stars is difficult because the Saints worked as a unit far better than ever before. The brilliant "Red" Cooke, whose 1928 defensive play rates with that of any of the Saint immortals of years gone by, had another large afternoon. He was a steady customer in the Glendale backfield whenever the Dynamiters had the ball, making vicious tackles far behind the line on several occasions.

LOCAL COLLEGE VANQUISHED BY COMPTON, 13-6

Alfred Poulsen, the portly right running plays. They simply couldn't take him in or out. Curt Youel, as usual, was here, there and everywhere and the black-haired Swede Gene Olsen, had one of the best days of his long and honorable career at guard. Reboin, Crumley, Spencer and Jack Fredericks, the starting backs, did a great day's job, and Nuzum, who first replaced Reboin and later Crumley, looked like a real half-back.

For Glendale, Ryan, veteran right tackle, was the leading defensive light although Carter often was at the bottom of the pikes. Key also played well at times. The much feared Glendale offense was nothing more than a myth or else the Saint forwards rushed it so that it never got started and the forward passing threat was even less dangerous. Gene Hibbs, brother of the great Jess U. S. C. fame, did little or nothing at fullback and was yanked early.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—Coach Howard Jones today decreed secret practice sessions for his Trojan disciples in preparation for the tilt with Washington State college at the Coliseum Saturday.

The U.S.C. mentor is looking upon the coming game with the northerners with the utmost seriousness.

In Washington State, the Trojans will have on their hands this season's strongest product of Northwestern gridiron. There is no room for superiority complexes in Trojan ranks.

Two years ago when the Cougars came to Los Angeles, they were considered rank outsiders in the matter of having a winning chance. The rank outsiders went back to Pullman, Wash., with a 17 to 12 victory over U.S.C. tucked neatly under their belt.

From behind the closed gates of Bovard field, the Trojan practice grounds, came today the report that Russ Saunders, speedy halfback, is being groomed for the quarterback berth. He will it is said, assume "dynamic" Don Williams' position in the W.S.C. game. Don, the tower of the Trojan machine, is suffering from a slight attack of influenza. It is uncertain whether he will be PAULO ALTO, Nov. 13.—The Cardinals of Stanford university forced a driving finish to their football season, with a Washington game scheduled Saturday and the University of California contest coming up November 24.

The Cardinals anticipate a hard battle with the Huskies and there was fear on the farm that Heineke, injured in the U.S.C. game and hurt again in the game with Santa Clara last week, may be unable to play.

Coach "Pop" Warner was reported drilling his charges in both his B and A formations. Formation A was used exclusively against Santa Clara.

CONSTITUTION OF CALIFORNIA FACES REVISION

California's constitution, sometimes referred to as a patchwork quilt and a dumping ground for new laws, may undergo a complete revision after the 1929 legislature meets, reports from Sacramento indicated today. The wholesale adoption of amendments at the recent election has focused attention on the 51-year-old document and a movement is under way for redrafting it.

Since its adoption, the constitution has been amended out of all resemblance to itself until it no longer is the basic law of the state but a dumping ground for new laws. A bill will be introduced at the next legislature that will provide for a constitutional convention to draft a new constitution, removing many laws that rightfully belong in the statute books and clarifying the constitution in general.

Just because the election is over politics has not left the stage in California and the voters have given the next legislature plenty to work on when it convenes, January 7. Water, taxes and crime will be the important subjects of legislation to be considered at this session. And by adopting measures three and seven on the ballot, voters have paved the way for some of this important legislation.

BAREFOOT S. A. BURGLAR STILL ELUDES POLICE

Santa Ana's barefoot burglar, who is credited with robbing nine Santa Ana homes within the last several days, continues to elude police, although special efforts have been put forth to apprehend him. He remained at home last night.

The ninth home entered was that of Mrs. Rose Bowen, 843 North Parton street, which was broken into Saturday night but not reported to the police until yesterday.

Mrs. Bowen reported that $8 in cash was taken from her purse by the thief, who apparently remained in the house for some time, according to officers who made an investigation.

Mrs. E. F. Goebel 212 East Chestnut street, reported to police last night that she heard someone on her back porch at 9:30. She called and asked who it was, but there was no answer. Officer E. E. Perry made a search about the house, but did not find anyone.

MACCABEES WILL BANQUET THURSDAY

Plans have been completed by Leon L. Dwight, general supervisor of the Maccabees in this district, for a get-together meeting of members of Santa Ana tent No. 8 in Ketter's cafe at 7 o'clock Thursday night, it was announced today by Leonard Baker, secretary of the Santa Ana tent.

The banquet is being given to stimulate interest in the lodge and to bring members into closer relationship in the hope that more will attend regular meetings of the lodge, Baker said.

Alfred E. Smith Will Be Network Speaker Tonight

Gov. Alfred E. Smith, of New York, erstwhile aspirant for the post of president of the United States, will broadcast for 30 minutes tonight over a nationwide radio network.

The address, which will originate in New York City, will be re-broadcast by KFI, starting at 6 p.m., Pacific coast time.

IT'S THE CAT'S MEOW!

Impromptu comedy-dramas like this happen every day, but they're rarely photographed. Here you're a witness to one in Washington, for of course only a capital cat could camp so com- placently on a perch so precarious. By this time the pursuers are feeling a little silly, but they're still doggedly determined. They know full well the hunting season is at its height, and what better can a city dog do than chase a city cat?

COUNTY'S PIGS ARE VALUED AT ABOUT $50,000

Now that California voters have given a knockout blow to the anti-rodeo bill, which would have made it unlawful to bite, chew or twist any animal, Orange county can smack its lips over its appetizing pork chops and prepare to enjoy its Thanksgiving roast pig without fear of prosecution.

And, according to figures revealed today, there are plenty of tantalizing morsels getting fat in this vicinity. On the tax rolls the 2500 pigs are valued at $50,000.

The farmer, too, has cause to rejoice, for this is the first time in eight years when this crop has been worth more than it was at the previous assessment. The total state valuation is 12.3 per cent greater than it was in 1926.

When it comes to the actual eating of the potential ham sandwiches, Orange county diners probably will be as gently as possible, despite the fact that the law does not forbid them to twist or bite. For they know by experience that a good, fat suckling pig comes as near to melting as anything when it gets in the right place.

The rest of the state is just as lucky and there will be plenty of juicy plates of pork passed around this year. For there are approximately 500,000 hogs on the hoof, according to a count of snouts by county assessors. Their value was placed at $1,653,313.

VALUABLE OLD BOOKS ARE IN SCHOOL EXHIBIT

Fred Rafferty, retired capitalist of Santa Ana, has arranged a splendid exhibit of some of his famous old copies of books and manuscripts in the Frances Willard school exhibit case.

Rafferty has travelled extensively and has made a specialty of gathering valuable old books, manuscripts and engravings. His collection includes a complete story of the evolution of books.

The exhibit adds a world of wealth to the meaning of National Book week, which is being observed in Willard and other schools throughout the country. Willard students are studying these valuable old documents and they appreciate them. The public is invited to see the unusual display of books this week. The exhibit case is located in the front hall of the main building.

The exhibits include Kashmir manuscript, written on birch bark, dating back to the twelfth century; a page from the first "King James Bible," Oriental book, written on palm leaves, which folds up like a fan; Cooper's Chronicles, including one of the earliest engravings, dating back to 1560, and many leaves from old books and complete books written in Chinese, Latin, Persian and many other languages.

TWO AUTOISTS HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Two motorists, alleged to have been under the influence of liquor, were arrested in downtown Santa Ana yesterday and are being held in the county jail on charges of driving while intoxicated.

S. H. Brown, 49, fumigator, of 633½ North Van Ness street, was arrested at Fourth and Main streets at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Officers Cozad and Flower, and Chris Kapper, 31, of Pasadena, was arrested at East and Main streets last night by Officer Foster.

Both probably will be given hearings in city police court today.

WOMAN IS CUT AND BRUISED IN CRASH

Mrs. Jennie Montana, of 1815 West Fifth street, was severely cut and bruised early yesterday afternoon at Bristol street and Washington avenue when the automobile, in which she was riding with her son, John Montana, 15, and two small children, collided with a car operated by C. Romero, of El Toro, according to a report filed at the city police station.

Both cars were wrecked. Police and state traffic officers who went to the scene of the accident took Mrs. Montana to the Orange County hospital.

THREE STARS IN 'SEVENTH HEAVEN'

Three of the principals in "Seventh Heaven," the November offering of Santa Ana Community Players, are Miss Clara Kate Owens, as "Diane," Valmer Clark, as "Chico" and Albert Stuelke as "Boul" the taxi driver who has given the poetic name of Eloise to his old rattletrap of a car. Both Miss Owens and Stuelke are newcomers to the ranks of the Players. Val Clark has been seen in various roles, but as "Chico" will present an entirely new characterization.

COSTUMING, SCENERY EFFECTS ARE OUTSTANDING FEATURE OF 'SEVENTH HEAVEN' PRODUCTION

Such costume and scenery problems as have faced Santa Ana Community Players in their plans to present "Seventh Heaven" on the nights of November 22, 23 and 24, in Yost's Sargeon theater, are being solved in satisfactory manner, today declared Mona Summers Smith, publicity chairman of the Players.

There are but two scenes in "Seventh Heaven," the first a street in the Paris slums and the second the small attic tucked away under a mansard roof.

But each of them offered difficulties to Charles C. Brisco and his stage crew and to Mrs. Marshall Harnois and her scenery committee. Fortunately, however, San Bernardino Community Players had staged the same play within the last year and they generously loaned the Santa Ana Players their entire act of tie set. So the committees here have been faced with but the one problem of designing a convincing Paris street, with curb and manhole and a church as background.

Shabby Costumes
Costumes for the play are strangely shabby creations and their making is being supervised by Gladys Simpson Shafer, since Mrs. L. G. Swales, chairman of the costume committee, was unable to serve for this play. It is the intention of Mrs. Shafer and her committee to make as many of the garments as possible, and Mona Summers Smith, who plays the role of "Nana," the brutal sister of "Diane" (Clara Kate Owens), is fashioning the shabby clothes she will wear in the part.

The successful appearance of the various actors will depend more on their facial expressions than on costuming, however, and play-goers who have watched members of the cast in other roles will find it interesting to see their characterizations in "Seventh Heaven."

Both Mrs. Smith and Val Clark did excellent character acting in "Enter Madame," the former as "Madame" and the latter as the French chef. In this play, Mrs. Smith will portray a hardened, cruel, abominable fiend, while Clark will play the romantic lead of "Chico," that very "remarkable fellow" portrayed so delightfully on the screen by Charles Farrell.

Triumph in Makeup
Albert Stuelke, as "Boul" is said to be a decided find by those who have watched rehearsals. His makeup for the part is a triumph in amusing characterization. As rehearsals progress, special attention is directed toward the work of Miss Owens and Miss Loretta Spangler, both of whom are showing a dramatic ability that promises well for future Community Players' productions.

Reserved seats for the three nights' performances of "Seventh Heaven" will go on sale Thursday in the Santa Ana Book store.

SOIL NOW IS IN FINE CONDITION FOR PLANTING

Following last night's generous rainfall, Orange county grain farmers on 35,000 acres of land are preparing to sow their crops, starting on its way for another year an industry which last season brought $649,916 to ranchers of this section.

Plowing has been completed on a large portion of the land, which lay ready for the first rain to put it into condition for receiving the seed. Many farmers were on the verge of setting an early date for sowing when rain failed to appear, but last night's drenching has put a brighter aspect on the situation and activity is expected on every hand.

Complete reports of the rainfall in the more distant hill regions where grain is grown had not been received today and the condition of the soil throughout the grain area had not been reported, but it is expected that reports will show that almost in every section planting soon will be under way.

According to W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, considerable interest is being shown this year in new and heavier yielding varieties of grain, which may result in more bounteous crops when the harvest season arrives.

Protection against disease, which often menaces grain crops, is on a new basis in some sections this year as a result of the installation of grain dusting machines at the El Toro and Irvine warehouses. The process gives almost complete protection, according to Cory.

Grain acreage last year in Orange county totaled 35,808 acres. Oats and barley hay covered 24,728 acres. Grain barley was planted on 10,487 acres, corn on 90 acres and wheat on 565 acres.

Weddings Household

Orange County Park Is Scene of Charming Breakfast

The only thing which marred the enjoyment of a delightful breakfast planned in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. R. H. Silverthorn by a group of their friends was the fact that the honored guests themselves were unable to be present for the affair.

The breakfast, which was served at Orange County park yesterday morning, was one of the many courtesies planned for the Silverthorns before they take their departure on December 1, for Palo Alto where the Rev. Mr. Silverthorn will take post-graduate work at Stanford University. Unexpected church work made it impossible at the last minute for the guests of honor to be present.

Those who gathered for the breakfast included Mr. and Mrs. George S. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Morrison, Mrs. W. E. Watkins, Miss Mary Craig, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bach. All are members of the First Presbyterian church of which the Rev. Mr. Silverthorn has been assistant pastor for several years.

Following the breakfast, the entire party motored to Orange where they viewed the Armistice day parade.

Long Beach Matron Is Hostess to Club

Mrs. Noble M. McBride of 27 Bennett avenue, Long Beach, was a charming hostess recently when she entertained members of the A. D. club, Chrysanthemums in pastel tints were used to advantage by the young hostess in decorating the attractive living rooms of her home.

The evening was spent in pleasant chat and needle work.

Those enjoying the evening included Mrs. Bess K. Mathis, Mrs. George C. Seba, Mrs. George Harris, Mrs. Dean Campbell, Mrs. Floyd G. Lyman, Miss Gladys B. Young and the hostess, Mrs. McBride.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. George Seba, of Orange.

Dinner and Card Party Honor George Baxter

Mrs. Margaret Church entertained in honor of her uncle, George Baxter, on his birthday anniversary Saturday. The party affair was held at her home, 606 South Main street. A delicious dinner had been planned by the hostess for which covers were laid for Mr. Baxter, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Sandon, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Rasmussen, Mrs. Avery, Mrs. J. E. Ward, Mrs. Hecker, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Haas, Mrs. Ben Grossman, Mr. and Mrs. George Kilson, and the hostess, Mrs. Church.

The evening was spent in playing cards and attractive gifts were awarded the winners of the various games.

EVENING WRAPS ARE SUMPTUOUS

At the left is a Worth evening coat of matalasse in gold, rich blues and reds in straight line and has unique sleeves and deep collar and cuffs of rich sable. It is worn over a pink lace dinner frock. Jean Patou trims the molded coat of lame, center, in Persian design with a lavish use of black fox. A sumptuous evening wrap from Philippe and Gaston is of luscious peach velvet. It has a clever shirred yoke and loose back panel. Sable trims it handsomely.

The MIXING BOWL by ANN MEREDITH

YOUR FIRST BIG FAMILY DINNER

Cranberry jelly to accompany the Thanksgiving turkey should be prepared the day before.

The turkey should also be ordered and in your kitchen that morning, so that you have ample time to prepare the bird and to cook the liver and giblets for the dressing.

All of these commandments are especially stressed for the young housekeeper celebrating her first Thanksgiving dinner. I can remember mine with painful clarity, well meaning in-laws that would come and clutter up the kitchen, a bird that wasn't dressed and stuffed on time, dinner more than an hour late and a frustrated young thing that dissolved into tears and wailing howls as soon as the door had decently closed on the guests. I can endorse this: The first hundred years ARE the hardest!

For the Young Thing's use I give below a recipe for perfect cranberry jelly:

4 cups cranberries
1-2 cups cold water

Sugar: 1 part of sugar to 1 part of strained cranberry.
Pick over the fruit, add the water, cover and cook until the berries are soft enough to burst and mash. Press the fruit through a sieve, measure the pulp and juice and add equal parts of "berry" sugar. Boil for 10 minutes hard, then pour into rinsed individual moulds and chill for 24 hours before using.

TODAY'S RECIPE

CORN CHEESE
1 quart boiling water
1 large onion, ground up
1 cup yellow corn meal
Salt, cayenne and paprika to taste
1-2 pound cheese, cut fine

There are three ways in which this corn cheese may be served: First, cheese sprinkled over the top and the dish browned nicely; next, sliced cold and browned quickly in hot bacon fat, served with good tomato sauce or a brown gravy, to replace meat. Maybe there is a bit left and some one in the family needs a hearty breakfast—cut in thin slices, brown quickly in butter and serve with hot syrup or tart jelly.

Use for making this large double boiler. To the boiling water add salt and slowly sift in the corn meal, stirring until smooth and thick. Add the ground onion and whatever paprika and cayenne your taste indicates. Cover and cook slowly for two hours.

If you intend serving the Corn Cheese as you would macaroni-and-cheese, reserve a little grated cheese for the top, cut the rest fine and add to the corn, stir until melted and mixed. Turn into a buttered shallow dish, sprinkle the cheese over the top and brown in a hot oven.

The real success of this recipe lies in the way you season it. Cayenne and paprika bring out every flavor in the finished dish, not too much cayenne, but let your conscience be your guide when you shake the paprika can.

About 1500 calories is the grand total: I'm afraid there won't be enough left to try any of the suggestions for warmed-over dishes. This is a recipe in which the proteins and fats are fairly well balanced with the starches. Green cooked vegetables and a crisp raw salad—perhaps apples and celery—should be served with it.

Shrine Club Completes Plans For Annual Charity Ball

Nobles of the Mystic Shrine and their friends will follow the gleam of the crescent, star and scimitar on Thursday night, and will be led by that gleam, directly to St. Ann's Inn, where a joyous evening of dancing and cards will await them, brightened by the knowledge that their pleasure will yield a later Christmas happiness to countless poor children of Orange county.

For the occasion will be the annual Christmas Charity ball of the Orange County Shrine club, and this year's function will excel in brilliancy and charm, all similar affairs of the past seven years, according to the committee on arrangements, Nobles Charles Cogan, Joseph P. Smith and Carl Mock.

The annual Christmas Charity ball was instituted in 1921 during the presidency of D. Eymann Huff, and that first affair achieved a brilliancy and smartness that immediately placed it in the front ranks of city and county social affairs. Since the Orange County Shrine club draws its members from every town and the community of the county, the ball attracts a correspondingly county-wide attendance, and St. Ann's Inn, which has come through established custom, to be the scene of the function, on that night presents a scene of brilliancy that is unequalled at any other event of the year.

This year the dancers will have an eight-piece orchestra as an attraction, Carl Mock, of the music committee, having secured Joe Sanford and his players. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock, and for those who prefer cards to the more active amusement of the dance, tables will be arranged in the lobby of the Inn.

H. M. Miller, Shrine club president, with his various committee chairmen, and their wives, will form the reception committee. The ball is always open to the public, and tickets may be secured from any member of the county Shrine club. All proceeds will be expended in bringing Christmas cheer to homes in the county, that might otherwise miss a visit from Santa Claus.

Public Card Party Is Successful

One of the most successful public card parties of the fall was that one Friday afternoon at the American Legion hall which was held under the auspices of the Double M club which is made up of members of the McKinley grammar school Parent-Teacher association. The card party was held as a benefit for the McKinley P. T. A.

The many lovely baskets of chrysanthemums which were used as decorations had been arranged by the hostess committee which included Mrs. Charles Carrillo, Mrs. Randal, Mrs. E. E. Smith, and Mrs. George Wheeler.

Bridge prizes were awarded Mrs. L. M. Pearson, Mrs. Major Anderson, and Mrs. J. C. Bondley.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Presbyterian Aid
The November meeting of the southeast section of the Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church was an evening meeting, held in the dining room of the church late last week.

A chicken dinner was served at 6:30, followed by a fine program. Robert Archer gave two readings, "Little Fio's Letter" and "Food for Gossip." Ray Archer rendered two piano solos, "Chopin Waltz" and "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell. Anna May Archer dressed as a negro mammy, recited "The Colored Lady at the Telephone" and "The Baptizing of Black Betty." A few guessing contests were enjoyed by all.

The committee in charge was composed of Mrs. Walter Vieira, chairman; Mrs. O. S. McFarland, Mrs. R. J. Brown, Mrs. J. R. Smalley, Mrs. Charles Carey, Mrs. R. M. Foster and Mrs. C. A. Miller.

Dorcas
The Dorcas society of the First Methodist Episcopal church met at the home of E. E. Ulrich on La Limonar road, Lemon Heights, Friday afternoon.

About thirty members were present and two new members were added to the list, Mrs. Vogh and Mrs. Clifford Chaffee.

Mrs. W. E. Smith of 1109 Oak street was a visitor. The society's Xmas party will be held at the home of Mrs. W. F. Kisting, 221 South Main street, who is the president of the society. Mesdames Ulrich, Sargent and Tart served lovely refreshments.

Mrs. Frances Knudson has returned to Occidental college where she is a senior following a short visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Knudson of West Walnut street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Chapman of 1820 North Ross street will leave for San Francisco tomorrow morning where Mr. Chapman plans to attend a lumbermen's convention.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Chenoweth of 205 West Twentieth street motored to Palm Springs for the week end where they attended a performance of the Tahquitz Indian play which is presented annually.

Little Miss Evelyn Snodgrass of Long Beach, spent the week end here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Peters of 110 West First street.

Miss Eleanor Randall of Los Angeles, is the house-guest of Mrs. Cecyl H. Drake and her mother, Mrs. J. R. Peterson, of 818 Riverline avenue.

Jefferson P. T. A. will meet Thursday afternoon, 2:30 o'clock. There will be an important business meeting.

Ebell's Third Household Economics section will meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Mrs. C. G. Seaman, 2232 North Broadway. Members are asked not to

Ebell Society Members Hear Interesting Program

The women of the Ebell club, meeting in their clubhouse yesterday afternoon, passed two resolutions, elected delegates to the Southern California district convention in San Diego in November, heard George Everson, manager of the community chest campaign, and J. Frank Burke on the meaning of Armistice day and Mrs. Jack Valley who gave her monthly book review.

Mr. Everson stressed the spiritual side of the community chest, appealing for the "army of the forgotten" in Santa Ana—those who are in need of material aid as well as spiritual and recreational guidance. He expressed himself as especially happy that the bulk of the Santa Ana community chest budget is for preventative work, which he said is a real investment and an outlay which the people can well be proud of, presenting as it does an investment in the future.

J. Frank Burke spoke on the spirit of Armistice day and the accomplishments of the war. He spoke first of the sacrifices of those who had paid a great price for the "war to end war" and to "make the world safe for democracy" that their sacrifices would not be in vain.

"Following the first armistice, for a few years it seemed that the war had been in vain," he said. "The world was in so chaotic a condition, at Versailles they wrangled and squandered the last drop of blood from the enemy. But today, on the tenth anniversary, we see that the sacrifices were not in vain. We look back over the past ten years and see here a step, there a step, toward peace, and culminating, for this Armistice Day celebration, with the multi-lateral treaty with fourteen of the biggest nations as the original signatories and the others joining in. The peaceful way of international progress is surely being established on the foundation of that great war. We see, too, that the democratic way of governing is more prevalent—in Austria, in Germany and in Russia we see it, not just in the way we would have planned it but nevertheless a fact."

Mrs. Valley's books yesterday were all concerning women or closely connected with one of the biographies of women. The first was "Susan B. Anthony" by Rheta Childe Dorr, who cited her subject as the pioneer fighter for women's rights, the conservative of the Elizabeth Cady Stanton-Susan B. Anthony team. "The middle ages for women lasted longer than it did for men," said Mrs. Valley. "For women it didn't close until 1848 when the first organized meeting of women in the world took place in Seneca Falls, New York. Twelve years later, women were granted joint guardianship of their children and control of their property. Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony worked for that and worked years and years for other rights and privileges, including the right to speak before mixed gatherings. Susan B. Anthony labored for women's rights for 52 years. At the age of 88 she made her last speech at a meeting in Baltimore, Md. A few weeks later she died, eight years before suffrage was granted to women, but she died confident that it was going to be won."

The other women Mrs. Valley discussed were quite different: Emily Bronte, one of the greatest writing geniuses England has ever produced, with her life a stark tragedy; the biography of the other of Napoleon, "Mother of Kings"; the biography of the last empress of China, "The Old Buddha"; "The Last Tsarina" of Russia and closely linked with that life were those of Rasputin and Lenin, the one by Rene Fulop-Miller and the other by Valerie March. "Troupers of the Gold Coast" about Lotta Crabtree, and "The Enchantress" the biography of a French courtesan who for many years charmed Menry II, twenty years her junior, completed the reviews.

Mrs. Valley recommended Lowell Thomas' "With Lawrence in Arabic" and "The Sea Raider" for reading before Lowell Thomas' evening with the women of the Ebell and their husbands, some time in January.

A resolution endorsing the Kellogg-Briand multilateral peace treaty was passed and another opposing out-door advertising, except in business districts. New members taken into the society included Mesdames Nick Brock, C. F. Skirvin, H. T. Dunning, Ada L. C. Museus, Warren Brakeman, J. Mills Campbell, Dan E. Maloney and M. C. Maloney.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

The wife of the gentleman who tried radioing Mars makes it very plain that there's going to be no more such "foolishness" around her house. Mrs. Mansfield Robinson, the lady in question, answered the door to reporters with some such outbreak as this:

"If you've come about that message to Mars, I know nothing. I have refused to have any such goings-on in my house. My husband has gone to London where he has probably found someone to encourage him in his foolishness."

Mrs. Robinson is more honest than many wives in not only believing her theory that it's "my house," but practicing it, too. And few wives admit, as does Mrs. Robinson, that if husbands are barred from certain pursuits in their own homes, such as trying to phone to big-eared ladies on Mars, they'll "get encouragement in their foolishness elsewhere."

"A SWISS DIVORCE"

Rumor has it that "A Swiss divorce" will soon take the place of the popular "Paris divorce," once so fashionable but now most difficult to procure, because French courts frankly declare they're tired of being made monkeys by rich Americans. Whether those ladies who have consented to divorcing restless husbands in return for a nice trip to Paris with all its smart shops and restaurants will do as much for the mere chance to revel in natural scenery is a question. Here's waging rich husbands will find it increasingly difficult to become divorced!

THE HERRING GIRLS

The herring girls, who follow the fishing fleet, come into Yarmouth, England, 4000 strong every fall to clean and pack and dry the fish. For years the spectacle of the fisher girls from the Orkney and Shetland and other islands, each group wearing its own particular costume, has been so picturesque and colorful that tourists have rushed to see.

This year, however, the fisher girls are wearing the silk hose and short pleated skirts and bright blouses which girls everywhere are wearing. So goes one more picturesque custom sacrificed to our style standardization.

Paul Poiret and various fashion authorities have considerable to say about the future standardization of women's wear and the drab world it then will be. Many of us almost believe that such time already has arrived.

REFLECTED GLORY

Mrs. Alfred E. Smith was almost crushed by a crowd of 6000 Chicago women clamoring to see her at a reception in that city. Police were forced to rescue her and hurry her off to her suite. Sometimes one wonders what the feminists think of these eternal proofs that the mass of women find other women interesting and worth looking at only in proportion to the fame and greatness of their husbands. Mrs. A. Smith would be little known if she were not Mrs. A. Smith, and yet as

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Poor Clowny! Once again this lad had pulled a trick that seemed real bad. It really was his fault, though, that he had tipped the urn of gravy on the captain's clothes. How scared he was nobody knows. Thought he, "What will the captain do when it begins to burn?"

He didn't have to wait long. The captain, very big and strong, jumped to his feet and shouted, "Ouch! What sort of trick is this?" The other Tinymites, just outside, all heard him as he loudly cried, "Oh, my," exclaimed fat Coppy, "something else has gone amiss."

They peeked into the dining place, and saw the fright on Clowny's face. And then they spied the captain, with gravy on his vest. "That wasn't done with ill intent," said Scouty, "twas an accident. But, my, the captain's mad. No wonder Clowny looks distressed."

Then, up jumped Clowny, with a roar and scampered to a nearby door. He dashed outside, and down the deck. The captain shouted, "Hey! I guess you think you're pretty slick to pull that grave spilling trick. Come back and take your punishment. Don't try to run away."

But Clowny kept on running fast. He reached a hiding place at last. "Twas far down in a coal pile," said he. The captain didn't find him there, but shortly Clowny got a scare, as Carpy sneaked up carefully and said, "It's only me!"

"Don't tell the captain where I am," begged Clowny, "just bring me some jam and bread 'cause I am hungry. I have had no food today." Soon Carpy brought a tasty treat, and as he watched poor Clowny eat, he said, "Stay here until we find a plan to get away."

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Mothers of children, have you ever stopped to count how many times you have said impatiently and meaninglessly, "If you do that again I'll tell your father," "If you don't do this, I'll smack you," without any idea of doing either.

Such threats soon cease to have any effect on children. They are as peepers as biscuits without baking powder.

One of the first things a young school teacher is taught in her normal course is never to make a threat. But if in the course of human events she finds it necessary to fracture this cast-iron rule of good pedagogy, she must keep her word.

Children soon become absolutely impervious and callous to ineffectual threats. "She's said that a hundred times," they think to themselves, if they think about it at all. "She doesn't mean it—she's just talking." And at that, it doesn't make pretty conversation.

One day in a store I heard a mother say to a child who had lifted a toy off a counter to look at it, "I told you not to touch those things. If you do it again I'll burn your fingers."

She looked around with a smile at the startled customers who had heard it. The little boy paid no attention. I rather think it was her habit of making conversation.

A threat at best is a confession of weakness. A parent summons to his aid visions of punishment to accomplish what he cannot do by will or wisdom.

When personality fails, he summons up a picture of dire chastisement to help him out.

Few things in the world are without use. We must acknowledge that there are times when a good, healthy, earnestly-meant threat is worth while. Then it should mean business and be carried through to a finish.

But such times surely need be few and far between.

Children will have ten times as much respect for parents who never threaten. And in the wake of respect follows obedience.

EAT THE THEATER

SPURGEON

Osa Johnson who, with her husband, Martin, spent four years in the East African jungles and brought back "Simba," the marvelous picture now at Yost's Spurgeon theater, is authority for the statement that the rhinoceros is "a big, fat, stupid old idiot." Both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have had unequalled opportunities to observe all the jungle animals in their homes and have formed interesting opinions of them.

"The rhino is always fighting, always in bad humor, always looking for trouble," says Mrs. Johnson. "I think he has the least desirable personality of any of the big beasts."

"The average rhino hasn't a friend in the world, even among his own kind. They don't go in herds, nor mingle with other animals. Whenever I've met them, they are always fighting among themselves or getting ready to fight someone else."

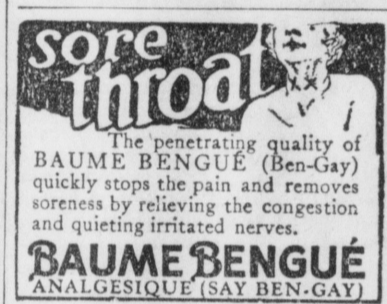

"I remember one night when Sanderson, one of our party, was asleep in his tent when a rhino poked her head under the flap. There was just one thing for the startled man to do and he did it. He kicked the lady in the face and the tent. Whereupon the lady charged and disappeared in the jungle, carrying the tent with her."

Full credit for the development of the laboratory was given to Harold Ensign.

WEST END
George Sidney and Charlie Murray have wandered from adventure to adventure in their First National comedies, and now they are aviators in "Flying Romeos" which is amusing the crowds at the West End theater.

As far as the screen is concerned Sidney and Murray have been policemen, firemen, barbers, soldiers, bartenders and divers other things. This is their first venture into the air.

An airplane race, in which expert fliers perform all the daring feats known to airmen is one of the features of "Flying Romeos."

Sidney and Murray did considerable flying themselves during the making of the picture, and risked their celebrated comedy necks by indulging in some nerve-racking stunts.

BROADWAY

Do you love to laugh? Are you fond of human nature and its frailties as well as its good qualities? If so you will be entertained hugely by "Do Your Duty" now showing at the Broadway theater. Charlie Murray stars in the First National picture as a police officer, one of New York's finest.

There is little need to tell the film patron of Charlie Murray's delightful and humanly humorous characterizations. It is acknowledged that in his particular sphere he has no equals.

In his support in "Do Your Duty" which is all about the trial of a policeman who is framed by crooks, appear Doris Dawson, charming ingenue lead; Yola d'Avril, a French girl, who plays a heavy role; Charles Delaney in the juvenile lead; Lucien Littlefield as a Scotch tailor; Aggie Herring as Murray's wife; Charles McHugh and Ed Brady as two crooks. A colored miscreant is played by Washington Blue.

WHEN ARGENTINES LOST TO AMERICANS

Playing together the first time as a unit, the American polo team caused a surprise by defeating the Argentine four in the first match for the championship of the American cup. A late rally enabled Tommy Hitchcock's team to win, 7 to 6, and made his team the favorite to win the deciding one of the two remaining matches. In the center of the above picture, taken during an exciting skirmish in the match, is Averill Harriman, No. 1 of the American team, who distinguished himself in his first international match. He was appointed to the team some time ago, removed later by the committee and put back on at the last minute.

the Queen of Belgium tying for honors.

A purse of $100 in gold was divided between the two girls. The following were candidates: Melva Fletcher, Orange Legion Post, as Queen of Russia; Dorothy E. Maroon, Santa Ana Legion post, Queen of England; Doris Goss, Laguna Beach Legion post, Queen of Turkey; Margaret Torba, Placentia Legion post, Queen of Spain; Claudine Hone, La Habra Legion post, Queen of France; Leonora Perrotti, Placentia post, Queen of Belgium; Vera Taber, Anaheim Legion post, Queen of Germany, and Rose McClaim, Orange County 40 and 8, Cleopatra.

Just preceding the crowning of the queen, William Nieto and Miss Elaine Eastman, of Santa Ana, were married on the platform by the Rev. W. B. Cole, of the Orange First Methodist church. The bride wore a becoming frock of lavender and the groom was in uniform. The groom was a member of the 91st division in the late war.

TO KILL RATS BY ELECTRIC CHAIR ROUTE

W. H. SPURGEON TELLS MORE OF

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 13.—A "diabolical Pied-Piper's" invention whereby rats are electrocuted was offered the city of New Orleans by D. Moorhoff, an inventor of Soudersdown, R. I. The apparatus consists of a metallic disc to hold a tempting morsel of cheese surrounded at a distance of several inches by metal ring, charged with electricity. The "chair" should be placed on a barrel of water for best results, according to the inventor.

In describing the action of the invention Moorhoff explained the rat, attracted by the fragrance of these cheese would place his hind legs on the ring and his front legs upon the disc thus completing the circuit and electrocuting the rat. The electrocuted rodent would then fall into the barrel of water to be choked to death by suffocation in case the shock had not been fatal. Moorhoff would thus be disposed of immediately, eliminating the necessity of removing victims before other rats would be tempted.

In elaborating on the scheme the inventor provides for the more intelligent rodents who might become suspicious seeing their friends falling into the barrel. Moorhoff would place the disc at a somewhat lower level than the ring so that falling rats would appear to be diving head-first into the water thus allaying the suspicions of their families and who might otherwise believe the cheese was not all that it seemed to be.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Fourteen years ago in the town of Carpendish, Greece, Porta Muzoles promised to wait for Thomas Cavallaria who was going to America to seek his fortune. They remained sweethearts through the years and now Cavallaria has brought her home a bride. Cavallaria made a small fortune here.

The bride is a niece of George Kafadaris, recent candidate for the presidency of Greece. Kafadaris aided in negotiating a large loan from the United States.

ROUEN, France, Nov. 13.—(UP)—French divorce courts prove that the second five years of marriage is the hardest.

During the past twelve months there have been 128 divorces granted in Rouen courts, which were divided as follows:

8 before two years of marriage.
33 between two and five years.
33 between five and ten years.
16 between ten and fifteen years.
7 between fifteen and twenty years.
7 between twenty and twenty-five years.
4 between couples married more than 25 years.

136 REPORTED MISSING TODAY IN SHIP WRECK

sea. They were said to be clinging to wreckage and the fact that they were picked up out of the water indicated that one of the life boats may have been swamped by the raging seas.

Rescued
The American liner steamship American Shipper picked up 33 passengers and 90 seamen from five life boats. The German liner Berlin saved 21 persons from two life boats, and the French tanker Miriam rescued 54 persons from two life boats. With the five taken from the sea by the Wyoming, the total was 293.

The master of the Hamburg American liner Berlin sent word by radio that two life boats and a makeshift raft, believed to be carrying a number of women, were missing. This message, which was intercepted by the Radio Corporation of America at 11:10 o'clock following:

"To all ships. Berlin rescued one man drifting in life belt. Man said woman with child drifting within two mile radius. Still searching for two life boats and makeshift raft said to have a number of women aboard."
Early wireless advices said that Capt. Carey was among those saved by the tankship Myram, but later dispatches to the Radio Corporation of America and to the New York agents of the Lamport and Holt line did not give Carey's name as among those picked up by the tanker. The local agents of the Lamport and Holt line sent a message addressed to Capt. Carey but up to noon received no reply.

So greatly had the ship listed before the work of launching the life boats was undertaken that only the small craft on the starboard side could be used, according to radio information received by the coast guard station at Norfolk, Va. This message said that a broken sea valve was believed to have been the cause of the disaster, allowing a vast flood of water to flow into the hold flooding the starboard sections.

Grim Danger
Late radio dispatches from ships of the rescue fleet painted a picture of grim dangers, despair and misery. It was evident that the life boats had been launched with the utmost difficulty due to the sharp list of the decks, the rough seas and the high wind which lashed passengers and seamen alike with rain. This work was carried out in thick fog.

The maze of fragmentary radio-grams left in doubt during the morning whether or not Captain Carey had been saved. It was first reported he was on the Myram, but representatives of the Lamport and Holt line said they were unable to get any word from him although they had asked him by wireless for a report. At noon these agents said they had received a special message from the Myram saying that Capt. Carey was on board.

Accepting this as authentic the steamship officials said it was evident that all those aboard the Vestris had left the ship as the captain is always the last one to desert his vessel.

Each life boat of the Vestris had a capacity for 57 persons, according to Charles P. Dery, assistant passenger agent for the Lamport and Holt line. He said that six open boats would have been sufficient to rescue all the passengers and crew. This still left unsolved the mystery of the persons picked up from the water and those said to be on a makeshift raft.

There was another puzzle in the conflicting reports that 10 life boats had been lowered and the later news that only those on the starboard side could be used.

The Vestris listed at a 32 degree angle when the work of lowering the boats was begun.

Experienced seamen said that any life boat lowered from the high port side would certainly have been dashed to pieces against the ship's plating by the battering waves.

The master of the rescue steamer American Shipper said he would stand by for several hours in hope of picking up additional refugees. The coast guard cutter Davis and the liner Berlin likewise were cruising slowly over the sea in hope of finding other missing passengers and seamen from the lost liner.

The American Shipper wireless said she would put in to New York instead of Norfolk as reported early in the day.

The Berlin is due here about 8:30 tomorrow morning with the Myram following later.

MARKS TO MANAGE SHARPLESS RANCH

Cecil Marks, claim adjuster for the Buick Motor Cars, secretary of the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce, announced today that he will leave Santa Ana at the first of the coming year to assume management of the 40-acre B. H. Sharpless orange and avocado ranch in La Habra.

Marks has been in the employ of the Buick Motor Cars since 1925 and has been in the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce since 1926. He was elected secretary of the chamber last year.

Plans are under way for the construction of a French style home on the La Habra property, where Mr. and Mrs. Marks will reside. The home will be built of tile.

Financial and Market News

NEW YORK STOCKS

By ELMER C. WALZER
(United Press Financial Editor)
NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—(UP)—Steel common stock, a leader in the recent bullish demonstrations, followed Herbert Hoover's election, advanced to a new high record today. Strength in this issue was a contrast to the remainder of the market, which was under severe pressure.

Buying in United States Steel common brought the issue up to 129 1/2, a high earlier this year around 132. The corporation's earnings were sharply higher than last year in the first nine months of 1928 and wide gains are predicted for the fourth quarter.

Opening irregular, the general list sold off rather sharply. But as the selling was absorbed, a rally developed. Another decline of 2 1/2 proportions followed and movements through the first half of the session were very erratic.

Commission houses had advised caution, impressing upon their clients the weakness of the market's technical position.

Trading in the first half hour was at a rate of more than six million shares. The pace slackened to a little more than a five million sale.

Before U. S. Steel was carried upward, losses ranging from two to more than 12 points were sustained by Radio Corporation, Mexican Petroleum, Chrysler, General Motors, Currier Aero, Wright Aero, DuPont, Packard, General Electric and others.

Radio moved over a range of more than 12 points, while Wright Aero, after touching 20 1/2, dropped nine points and then rallied partially.

Call money was in good supply at the new rate of six per cent. Time money was nominally 6 1/2 per cent bid, seven per cent offered.

GIVE UP DANCING TO DODGE BASTILE

Dancing the light fantastic in the Delhi dance hall for the next year is taboo for Frank Rios and S. B. Alvarez, Mexicans, following their arrest, Sunday night, by deputy sheriffs on drunk charges.

Today, in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, they were fined $30 each and given suspended jail sentences of 60 days on condition that they do not allow their feet to shuffle to the strains of music in the hall for the next year.

Both agreed to stop dancing in order to dodge the jail sentence.

$1000 BAIL SET IN POSSESSION CASE

Pleading not guilty to a charge of possession of liquor, Nathan Harmon, 60, of Garden Grove, was freed on bail of $1000 in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning and his trial was set for December 7.

He was arrested by Officers Elliott, McKague and Moxley, of the sheriff's office, Saturday afternoon when the officers are asserted to have found 125 gallons of wine in his home.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 13.—The Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold their regular meeting Wednesday. The foreign society will have charge of the morning program and at noon a luncheon will be served. The afternoon program will be given by the Home missionary society.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Best entertained a group of friends at a bridge party recently, the occasion being their 13th wedding anniversary.

First prizes were awarded to Miss Flora Heil and Charles Sauer, second prizes went to Mrs. Elmer Dietrich and Delbert Wilkinson and Mrs. Delbert Wilkinson was consoling.

At a late hour refreshments were served to the following: Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Raddott of Fullerton; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Seebing, of San Pedro; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Angle, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dietrich and Miss Flora Heil, of Santa Ana; Charles Sauer, of Tustin; Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Wilkinson and the hosts.

In response to an invitation from the Santa Ana Lions club to attend a joint luncheon meeting in St. Ann's Inn Thursday the Garden Grove club at its last meeting voted to accept the invitation and to dispense with the regular meeting here this week.

Representatives Of Farm Bureau At State Session

Representatives of the Orange County Farm Bureau will be guests at a dinner, tonight, in Sacramento, where Gov. G. C. Young will address delegates to the state farm bureau convention, which opened in the capitol city today.

Governor Young is expected to outline his policy of reorganization for the state government.

Norman M. Blaney, secretary of the farm bureau here; J. A. Smiley, of Santa Ana; John Ragan, of Villa Park, and S. W. Stanley, of Tustin, are representing the Orange county organization. They left Saturday and planned to remain for the three-day convence.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Nov. 13.—Thursday evening the county Christian Endeavor social is to be held at Westminster, the local C. E. members being hosts for the occasion.

Friday evening the annual dollar social of the Happy Workers' society of Westminster is to be given at the church hall, everyone being invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowgill, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Wells McCoy, were down from Westminster Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. McCoy and family. Miss Helen McCoy was at home from Occidental college for the weekend and Armistice day holiday.

Mrs. Mary Tilton, of Los Angeles, spent Sunday as the guest of her brother, H. B. Anderson.

Among those in the community who are ill with influenza are several members of the Thomas Hossack family, and Betty Shipley.

Mrs. Arthur Spencer and daughter, Ruth, and sons, Ralph, Raymond and Clarence, spent Monday in Orange as guests of relatives and attended the Armistice day programs.

Carl Bergman, of Santa Ana, junior college, and Rush Bergman, of the Bible Institute, spent Sunday in the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Weld, and a birthday dinner was enjoyed by the Weld family and their guests given in honor of Carl Bergman, who was celebrating his birthday anniversary.

Special services were held Sunday morning in the Westminster Mexican Methodist church when the Rev. J. Scott Williams, superintendent of the Mexican work for the district, preached.

BUT DOES HE TAT?

MIDDLEPORT, O., Nov. 13.—(UP)—Housewives and cooks can learn a few lessons from Gene Grate, 14-year-old local boy.

Gene is a chef, makes cakes and pies, does all kinds of fancy work, much of which has taken prizes at the county fair, and plays his piano.

F. L. PORTER PASSES IN FULLERTON HOME

FULLERTON, Nov. 13.—Fred L. Porter, proprietor of Porter's variety store for the past 15 years, died last night at his home following a stroke. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with the Rev. B. D. Snudden, pastor of the First Methodist church, in charge at the McAulay and Suters parlors. At the grave Azure lodge of Masons will officiate.

Mr. Porter is survived by his widow and two daughters, Helen, of the home, and Mrs. Dorothy Hooper, of Inglewood.

WOULD HIDE AGE OF AUTUMN BRIDE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—A gray-haired woman walked into the office of Grant "Cupid" Munson, chief clerk of the San Francisco marriage license bureau. With her was Sylvio Louis Cottrell.

The woman signed her name, Emma Hauge Faulkner, age 26. The young man gave his as 28. Munson begged to differ with the bride-to-be.

"You must give your true age in filling out the application," he said.

The woman erased the figures and wrote "68."

"But couldn't it go in the papers as '26'?" asked the young man. "I rather it would be printed that way."

Soldier Beaten By Cupid At 84

SAWTELLE, Calif., Nov. 13.—(UP)—As a dashing young soldier in the Union army during the Civil war, Thomas K. Howe of Sawtelle successfully dodged the southern bullets.

For 84 years of his life, Howe was as successful evading Cupid's darts as he was ducking shot in his soldier days. Then he fell.

Today Howe is married. His wife is Mrs. Eva Averill, 72, sister of Senator Gould of Maine. The couple met on a dance hall floor at Venice.

NO SMOKING AT MOVIE

MANCHESTER, Eng., Nov. 13.—Because "no one would ever dream of smoking in church," the Manchester Watch Committee banned smoking in the theater where the film, "The King of Kings," was shown. Attendance promptly dwindled and the management withdrew the film.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, Nov. 13.—The W. C. T. U. met in the Presbyterian church this afternoon. Mrs. Sara Donald was the leader and Mrs. Carrie Ford and Mrs. Cora Hale were speakers.

The Rev. Charles E. Fuller, pastor of Calvary church, left Saturday for McPherson, Kans., to attend a national Bible conference in that city.

The Rev. Mr. Fuller will deliver an address each morning during his stay there.

Members of the Junior Fishermen's club had an enjoyable outing Saturday.

Leaving early in the morning they went to Fish Canyon, near Monterey. After a seven mile hike to the falls they ate lunch and drove to the zoo at Griffith park. Dinner was served the boys in the home of Mrs. Cora Milligan.

Those who made the trip were Douglass Wheeler, Homer Copeland, Arthur Fox, Billy Fox, Paul Collins, Gene Young, Harry Stewart, Eugene Anderson, Ralph Solesbee, Leonard Hamner, Mrs. Fox and Don Milligan.

Court Notes

Vincente M. Ballester today brought suit against Earl L. Winterbourne for $5050 damages as a result of an automobile accident, last September, in which the plaintiff alleged that the car in which he was riding was struck by the Winterbourne machine. Ballester's injuries were listed as a cut and permanently scarred right ear, jaw, chin and lip.

Paul Perlich today brought suit against Carl J. Klatt for $2800, alleged to be due for labor asserted to have been performed at La Crescenta, Los Angeles county, for the defendant.

Cruelty and wilful neglect were charged by Erma Fitzgerald in a divorce complaint filed today against Frank E. Fitzgerald. She alleged that her husband had torn off her hat, the sleeve of her dress and then had locked her in the bathroom of their home with their minor daughter. They were married in 1919 and separated last January, the complaint said.

Earl G. Hogle pinched his wife until she was black and blue when they were in a theater and she refused to leave when he wished to go, she alleged in a divorce complaint filed today. They were married last May, in Santa Ana, and separated November 2 according to the complaint.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, Nov. 13.—To honor their daughter, Mrs. Charles Shoemaker, on her birthday, Mr. and Mrs. George Wolfe and family spent Monday in the Shoemaker home in Inglewood.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker and family and Mrs. T. M. S. Kenney, of San Diego, were week end guests in the J. H. Walker home.

Mr. and Mrs. Justine Hawthorn have returned from Springfield, Ore., to spend the winter in their newly erected home on the Martha Ware ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Durnbaugh and daughter, Evelyn, spent the holiday in the J. I. Ansley home.

E. L. Jourigan bagged 31 ducks near Westminster recently.

Mrs. May Hammond, of Los Angeles, was a guest Monday of her niece, Mrs. D. A. Dundas.

Mr. and Mrs. Roby Jones spent Sunday in the Rev. Dundas home.

Mrs. E. L. Jourigan is able to be out again after an attack of influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Ballard, of Haviland, Kans., have returned to spend the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. U. R. Phillips and children, accompanied by Mrs. Roxie Balcom, motored to Fresno Saturday to enjoy a picnic lunch in Fresno park with Joe, Ruth and Roxanna Balcom, of Roseville. Mrs. Balcom returned to La Habra for a week's stay with her sister, Mrs. U. R. Phillips.

The Daughters of Benevolence will hold an apron sale and chicken dinner December 6.

The Rev. E. R. Black, of Fellows, the incoming pastor of the Christian church, will be the speaker at the Christian church Wednesday evening.

Mrs. J. M. Campbell is ill.

An open missionary meeting was held Friday evening in the Friends church. Edgar T. Hole, of British East Africa, was the speaker of the evening and had slides showing the industrial conditions there. O. M. Mendenhall was in charge of the program which followed.

Refreshments were served and a social hour enjoyed.

TWO FARM CENTERS WILL MEET TONIGHT

Two Orange county farm centers meetings are scheduled for tonight, one in Yorba Linda and one in Anaheim, it was announced at the farm bureau office today.

A grand harvest reunion is planned for the Anaheim event, which will open with a dinner at 6:30 p. m., in the high school. Thomas E. Pickerrill, secretary of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce, will be the speaker. Vaudeville will be provided for lighter entertainment.

In Yorba Linda Harold Wahlberg, farm advisor, will give a talk on the cost of producing oranges and lemons under Orange county conditions. Data compiled from cost records of 85 growers will be used as the basis of the address. The affair will open at 7:30 p. m., and will be held in the Women's clubhouse.

F. H. BLOODGOOD'S CONDITION BETTER

Freeman H. Bloodgood, well known Santa Ana realtor and deputy state real estate commissioner, who was injured when knocked down by an automobile in Los Angeles, Saturday, was removed to his home at 1006 North Main street yesterday, from the Santa Ana Valley hospital.

His condition is improved. Bloodgood suffered a fractured right leg and severe cuts and bruises. He was brought to the hospital here Sunday from a Los Angeles hospital where he had been taken after the accident.

EVENING SALUTATION

All we have will'd or hop'd or dream'd of good, shall exist;
Not its semblance, but itself; no beauty, nor good, nor power
Whose voice has gone forth, but each survives for the melodist,
When eternity affirms the conception of an hour.

—Robert Browning.

A GREAT BROADCASTING STATION
FOR ORANGE COUNTY

A radio permit has been granted the Pacific Western Broadcasting Federation for a 50,000-watt station. The broadcasting station will be located within a very few miles of Santa Ana. It will be one of the most important broadcasting stations in the United States. The plan of its programs will unquestionably be the most comprehensive of any station.

The Pacific Broadcasting Federation is a corporation organized under the laws of California to utilize radio on behalf of the national individual and collective life, intellectually, socially, spiritually. It aims to secure for the nation's noblest institutions wider range of service, and to afford the best available leadership larger privileges of usefulness. It will endeavor to foster education and art; stimulate the organization of good will; achieve a larger measure of cooperation in religious organization and activity; minister to happiness, progress, and the enrichment of the common life.

Two things gave rise to the Federation. One was a realization of radio's unparalleled opportunity. The other was a protest against its prevalent debauchery.

Some broadcasters are rendering a splendid service under conditions of restriction and limitation. But the very psychology of the situation prevents much high-class service. Radio is being prostituted to secularism, fanaticism, buffoonery and jazz.

The potentialities of radio and television for good or evil, are believed by some to have greater significance than that of the press. Within a short time, it will be possible to project into any home in the "four corners" of the earth, audible and visible signals—spoken language, light, color and movement. Such powers should not be wasted nor abused.

If a federation of the various cultural and religious and social organizations desired to buy time on the air from broadcasting stations now in operation, insurmountable difficulties would prevent.

These stations are scattered geographically as well as being scattered all over the receiver dial. Their charges for service are high. The large majority divides time with other stations. All kinds of programs, in any sequence, are often broadcast from the same transmitter. They are subject to the conveniences, prejudices, ideals and resources of their owners. They are incapable of reaching the public or any section of the public with certainty, permanence and prestige. In most cases, they lack equipment and are totally without facilities for adequately serving such organizations. There are a few conspicuous exceptions. These would not solve the problem.

No radio broadcasting agency, which is maintained and operated for the sake of advertising purpose, or any form of financial or commercial advantage, could anticipate serving the public in the same manner or to the larger degree which will result from broadcasting done through a purely benevolent institution under the direction of representative and capable leaders selecting and enlisting the most accomplished talent in many fields of attainment, and associated together for no other purpose than chivalrous and cultural service to their fellow-citizens.

Santa Ana and Orange County are exceedingly fortunate in being selected by this Federation as a location for the erection of their broadcasting plant.

The theory of the modern apartment house seems to be that children should be seen and not had.

SALLY GRIMES CONFESSES

The confession of Sally Grimes revives the sensational case of Councilman Jacobson of Los Angeles.

In this confession Mrs. Grimes relates how the whole matter was a frame-up as charged by Jacobson at the time. Marco, since convicted of another crime, conspired with police officers to set Jacobson in a compromising position with Mrs. Grimes, and thus to stop Jacobson's attack on vice conditions.

Mrs. Grimes said she was offered $2500 and $100 per month for life. Payments were discontinued after Marco's sentence.

This has all the earmarks of a true confession, and reveals a police condition which should receive the most drastic action. That any man, and especially an officer who is sincerely attempting to better vice conditions in his city, should be the object of a dastardly plot to destroy his good name and reputation by a conspiracy between the promoters of vice and the police officers is almost beyond belief. It nearly succeeded, for the jury disagreed and although Jacobson demanded a new trial, the matter was dismissed.

For the sake of the good name of Los Angeles every police officer who had anything to do with this outrage should be severely punished, not only dismissed from the force. Every right thinking and right acting police officer should demand this, and the people should not be satisfied with anything less.

If you think women can't take a joke you ought to see some of their husbands.

REPUBLICAN TRADITION UPHELD

Orange County ranked fifth in the number of votes cast last Tuesday. Of these five, it had by far the largest proportion of Republican votes to Democratic votes.

Santa Clara County had the ratio of 24 to 31; San Francisco County, 93 to 96; Los Angeles County, 512 to 209; Alameda County, 120 to 61; Orange County, 30 to 7.

The nearest to the same ratio as Orange County was Los Angeles County, which was a little better than two to one for Hoover while Orange County was a little better than four to one.

THE ELECTION AND THE POWER COMPANIES

There is no doubt that the election results have been very gratifying to the power companies. The day after the election featured a Hoover market in the Stock Exchange. All the public utility companies were heavily bought in, and the prices of many of them soared to new high peaks. The election of Hoover has been discounted by these companies for some months, and the prices have been steadily climbing; but when it was absolutely assured, a new march forward began for public utility stocks.

We should think that those who are behind these companies would be somewhat considerate, however. Had it not been for the religious and the prohibition issue, the power question would have been very much more to the front. The voters in the main were not interested in any other issues. The editor of the Methodist Advocate deplored the fact that it could not bring these very important issues to the front because the prohibition question was so much the paramount issue. But the editor takes occasion to remark that the people take one issue at a time, and the time is coming when the issues which were slighted in the present campaign will have a much more conspicuous place in the minds of the people.

The election gives no warrant to the power companies to run amuck. The people have their eyes open, and the leaders of the power trust will be very wise if they do not go much farther than they have gone. The people will not look with complacency upon the alienation of their natural resources from public to private control. They will see to it that their rights are conserved.

Brown eyes indicate a weakness of will, says a professor. He had never noticed that, but black eyes do reveal a weakness of guard.

BEGINNING TO PINCH

It is very evident that the investigation being conducted by the Federal Trade Commission of the Power Companies is beginning to pinch. The officials of the Electric Bond and Share Company, the child of the General Electric Company, and the greatest holding company in the sphere of public utilities in the country, have refused to open their books and have refused to answer questions. The investigating commissioners are up against a blank wall. The investigation ends because of the refusal of the subject for investigation to be investigated.

We would not say that the refusal of these officials to co-operate with the Federal Trade Commission is a sign of guilt. But it does cast a great heavy cloud of suspicion upon them and their companies. There are trade secrets that may not be divulged to competitors, and no investigating commission has a right to drag these secrets out into the light for the benefit of competitors. But there is no reason why they may not be given in confidence to an official body like the Federal Trade Commission. If there are practices inimical to the public interest being carried on, the government has a right to know of it. If such practices do not exist, why such secrecy. The answer is with the Electric Bond and Share Company and other holding companies. The truth will out ultimately. An aroused public will demand it. Gentlemen! open the books. Tell the people what you are doing.

Women In Congress

New York Times

Three more women have been elected to the House of Representatives. Their names are ones to conjure with. Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, widow of Senator McCormick of Illinois, carries on the political tradition of her father, Mark Hanna. Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen is a daughter of the famous Commoner. Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt, while not rocked in a political cradle like the others, has won her spurs in the Board of Aldermen and in a primary fight in which she defeated a vigorous rival. "Whither thou goest, I will go," might well be the motto of these modern Ruths.

It is no longer a novelty to see a woman in Congress. Four women are members of the present House, and all of them have been re-elected—Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts, Mrs. Florence P. Kahn of California, Mrs. Mary T. Norton of New Jersey and Mrs. Katherine Langley of Kentucky. All but Mrs. Norton are widows of former Congressmen. Their husbands' popularity and the sentiment of their succession undoubtedly helped them win their way to Washington.

The new members are all women of personality, who might have made their impress even without the tradition behind them. They will add spice to the life of the capital. Mrs. McCormick, like her friend, Mrs. Longworth, has been a familiar figure in the galleries ever since she helped her husband fight his battle against the League of Nations. More recently, at the Republican convention, she sought to prevent the nomination of Herbert Hoover. She is the kind of person who is made for the political salon. Mrs. Pratt, on the other hand, while she has proved herself no tyro in politics, has taken a special interest in those problems of public finance to which her husband gave so much of his life.

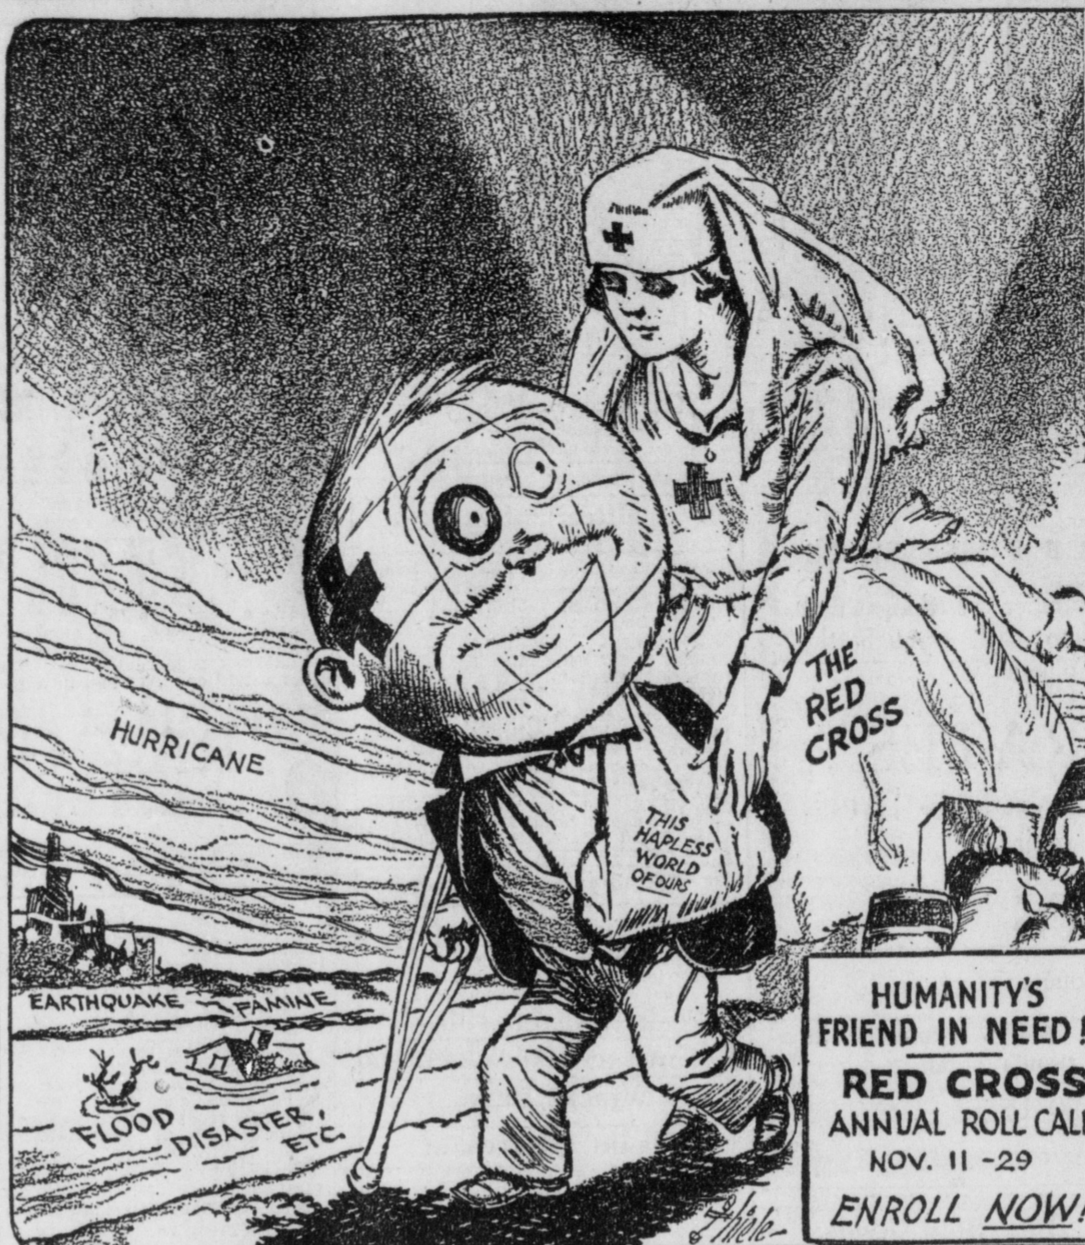

The increasing number of "Congresswomen" is but another indication of the larger part their sex is taking in the public life of the nation. The campaign just closed saw yeomen's work done by scores of women like Mrs. Hert of Kentucky and Mrs. Slade of New York on the Republican side. At first male politicians were grudging in according women their due place in party councils, but most of them have now learned what effective workers they can be. Nor was there any reluctance on the part of women generally this year to exercise the franchise. The total vote cast showed that they went to the polls in multitudes, and had no small part in the decision.

This Seems Too Much Even For South Seas

San Francisco Chronicle

It looks as if this South Sea wonder business were being overdone. We have always been willing to concede a lot to that great region of mystery and romance. A great many things might happen there but not everything. We were not among those who questioned the genuineness of the wild man of Borneo. We actually saw him in the Barnum & Bailey show. And as for the wild women, several hundred thousand miles of Gilda Gray film have left no doubt. We are prepared to accept the word of any explorer who finds a tribe of humans with prehensile tails or a species of horse with roller skates for hoofs. But this story from New Guinea is too much. According to the report from Sydney the natives have asked to be permitted to pay taxes. Even poor benighted cannibals would know better than that.

SCIENCE GOES TOO FAR

I am told that vibrations of sound
Which are loosed on the ether by speech
Will travel the planet around
Through eternity's uttermost reach.

And that one of these days we shall hear every voice,
Which back through the ages has spoken,
Since Cain had the rather poor taste to rejoice
That his poor brother's head had been broken.

It may be enthralling to hear,
As we sit at a hundred tube set,
The voices of prophet and seer
Which have not been extinguished as yet—
The many wise words that King Solomon said
To his throng of relations and scions,
The shout David raised when Goliath fell dead,
And what Daniel remarked to the lions.

But I think, had our forefathers known
That their words, when once cast on the air
Forever would onward be blown
They'd have spoken with rather more care.
When little vexations and troubles occurred,
In moments of quick irritation,
They all of them doubtless spoke many a word
Which was not meant for wide circulation.

And my readers, I think will concede,
Though their lives are unsullied and pure,
That it's very distressing indeed
To know that their words must endure.
And that while this old planet continues to spin
Their attempts to be funny or clever
Must arouse the derision of listeners-in
Forever and ever and ever.

If we hadn't known about that Zep, we might have thought
When we saw it that some inhabitant of Jupiter had dropped his cigar.

INDIA

There was a banquet recently given in London to the Indian Commission, upon their departure for the Indian Empire. The Marquis of Reading presided.

Sir John Simon, a member of the Commission, said that it was unfortunate that the geography we learned as children out of atlases seemed to depict every country as of the same size.

Few of us have any idea of the enormous extent of India. The single province of Burma is larger than the whole of France and the single presidency of Bombay is more extensive than the whole of Italy.

Bengal has more inhabitants than Great Britain and Ireland combined, while the presidency of Madras boasts a population as large as that of England, Scotland and Wales.

The most striking about India, however, is its heterogeneity. It has all sorts of races, many religions and a multiplicity of tongues, far exceeding our Western experience.

It is not one country, but many countries mixed. One advantage of British rule is that it has given some sense of unity to these diverse elements.

Not only does the India Commission have jurisdiction over a territory of one million square miles in extent and inhabited by 247,000,000 people, constituting British India, but scattered amongst these nine immense provinces are more than a hundred Indian states, no part of the British Empire, but bound by treaty to Great Britain and composing two-fifths of the whole peninsula and numbering 70,000,000 people who are not British subjects.

Native Indian committees will co-operate with the Commission. The idea that a small handful of British soldiers can control this immense population is absurd. What keeps India peaceful is the "Pax Britannica," the fact that justice is administered impartially to the last man.

Of course there is a movement in India for self-government, but most of the people realize the blessings of order and settled government, the sense of unity, and the experience of a disinterested administration which the presence of the British has brought.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

The economic life of our time is making for late marriage and limited families.

The scholars who are frightened by the specter of over-population may not be greatly alarmed by this fact.

The scholars who are concerned about the world's supply of genius and leadership, however, wrinkle their brows over this fact.

The business of heredity is not predictable on schedule. That is to say, a brilliant father and a brilliant mother may not always produce a brilliant child. The combination of factors that produce the brilliant child may be a combination of factors that lead back to ancestors more remote.

And this lucky combination may appear, not in the first child, but in the fifth, or the fifteenth.

If, then, the parenthood of a family is itself good and has a good ancestry stretching back through the years, it is important that heredity be given every possible chance to effect the lucky combination of factors that will produce the genius that may give distinguished leadership to the world.

Where there is a long stretch of sound ancestry, there is a strong case, from the point of view of society, for the large family.

If the Wesley family had stopped with fourteen children, heredity would never have effected the combination of inheritances that gave the world the leadership of John and Charles Wesley, for John Wesley was the fifteenth and Charles Wesley the eighteenth child.

If the Arkwright and Wedgewood families had stopped with twelve children, heredity would never have given the world the inventive genius of Richard Arkwright or the exquisite artistry of Josiah Wedgewood, for each was the thirteenth child in his family.

If the Franklin family had stopped with nine children, heredity would never have given Benjamin Franklin to American history, for he was the tenth child.

If the Scott family had stopped with eight children, heredity would never have stocked our libraries with the marchings and counter-marchings of great spirits through Scott's novels, for Sir Walter Scott was the ninth child.

If the Bach family had stopped with seven children, heredity would have withheld a wealth of loveliness from the world, for Johann Sebastian Bach was the eighth child.

The family that gambles on two or three children may rob the world of a possible genius, if the germs of genius are flowing down its ancestral stream.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE BURDENED SCHOOLS

It is as well now and then to stop to consider the load the schools are carrying before blaming them for things they have not done. Remember you are asking the school to teach EVERY child that comes to its doors, fit and unfit. You are asking the teachers to teach the maximum number of children for the maximum number of hours. And you have limited the cost of this to that there is not a dollar, not a penny to spare for any extra work of any sort.

But each morning's mail brings a further load of duty to the school. "The children are littering the streets. From one end of Main street to the other, yesterday, there were hideous chalk marks and they had scattered enough paper about the streets to supply a school for a month. It seems to me that you might teach a little economy in the use of materials and also give a lesson on civic pride so that the streets might be cleaner and the education of children who ruin property cost the taxpayers less."

Take that. There is another communication. More formal but just as deadly in the load it drops on the teacher's heart. It is on official stationery. Perfectly typed. Carefully worded.

"We must ask your cooperation in reducing the number of broken street lights. Is it too much to ask that the school, one of the most expensive of our city's enterprises, help to reduce the costs of the other departments? A few words to the children would stop this lawlessness and waste. We count upon you to lessen the number of such happenings this month by a large per cent. We will send you the results of this campaign and trust it will be one that will be satisfactory to you as well as to the Board of Trustees."

And still another. "The Club of which I am secretary has asked me to write to you in order to enlist your efforts in keeping the parks free of newspapers. Please instruct the children to throw all newspapers into the barrels provided by the club."

We have still others. But why continue. If the schools did all the work requested by all other civic bodies, all other socially minded people, all reformers and philanthropists, there would be little time left for the work of the school. Each speech made takes time out of the school program. Each bit of
